

Spending Plan Wins Approval In Upper House

Opponents Beaten on Every Attempt at Restrictions
COMMITTEE TO ACT
7 Republicans and 3 Democrats Vote Against Bill

Washington—(U)—The senate voted six to one for a $3,723,000,000 spending-lending program last night—and handed the Roosevelt administration the pursestrings.

The 70 senators who remained for the finish of the two-week battle over the bill divided 60 to 10 for the measure. Seven Republicans and three Democrats lined up against it.

Before the final vote, opponents of the program were completely routed. They lost every attempt to write restrictions into the bill. As passed, it would give President Roosevelt an entirely free hand in the disposition of the huge appropriation.

President Roosevelt, asking "flexibility" in the relief program, had indicated opposition to earmarking.

Beat G.O.P. Plan
The chamber also turned a cold shoulder to a Republican proposal to hand over relief administration to the states and an effort by Senator Byrd (D-Va.) to wipe out the $665,000,000 appropriation for the P.W.A.

Tired at the end of three night sessions, the senators acted on a score of amendments last night. The vote on passage came shortly before midnight. Galleries were almost empty and many senators slouched in their chairs.

Upon passage of the bill, Barkley told his weary listeners that congress probably would adjourn next week after sending the relief measure and a pending wage-hour bill to the White House.

The spending-lending program now goes to a joint senate-house conference committee for the adjustment of differences between measures passed by the two chambers.

Total Increased
The senate bill totaled almost $600,000,000 more than the house measure. The senate increased by $175,000,000 the house allotment for the W.P.A., but provided that the sum should run the agency until March 1. The house had voted $1,250,000,000 for work-relief to last until Feb. 1.

Other senate increases included $212,000,000 for farm benefit payments, $300,000,000 for additional slum clearance loans and $1,000,000 for administrative costs of the rural electrification administration.

In its consideration of proposals to forbid the use of "political influence" by relief employees, the chamber turned down, 35 to 33, an amendment by Senator Austin (R-Vt.) which would have provided fines and jail sentences for workers who used their positions to swing votes.

Then, by a vote of 33 to 32, it rejected a motion by Senator Burke (D-Neb.) to reconsider a proposal requiring the dismissal of W.P.A. employees who participated in campaigns.

Late Amendments
Last-minute amendments attached to the measure included:

A provision that President Roosevelt can override in the event of an emergency, a provision requiring the W.P.A. to allocate its funds so they will last for the period covered by the appropriation.

Exemption of projects tied up in litigation from the requirement that P.W.A. projects must be "substantially completed" by Sept. 30, 1940.

A restriction limiting costs of relief administration to 5 per cent of the total cost of the project.

Senator Robert M. LaFollette voted for the bill. Senator F. Ryan Duffy did not vote, but had expressed himself in favor of the measure.

Novelty In Politics
The State of Baroda, British India, has just forbidden the practice of "Black Magic" on penalty of six months and upward in the pen. Now it'll be interesting to watch how they're going to run their elections in Baroda. Of course, candidates can use the straightforward way of offering their services through the local papers classified "want-ads" which, no doubt, are as effective in India as they are here in The Post-Crescent. This one, though not partisan in any way, was voted a grand success.

U. S. Offers Help In 'Humanizing' Warfare Rules

Ready to Cooperate in Trying to End Bombing Of Civilians

Washington—(U)—The United States, condemning bombing of civilians, offered cooperation with other nations today in "humanizing" the rules of warfare.

The willingness and desire of this country to join in such an effort was expressed by Secretary of State Cordell Hull in a significant address on foreign affairs in Nashville, Tenn., last night. He also announced the readiness of the United States, just beginning a huge naval expansion program, to reduce the limit on armaments instead of other nations will do the same.

A few hours before Hull's address, Sumner Welles, acting secretary of state, had denounced in a statement here the bombings in Spain and China which have killed thousands of women and children. Welles called such warfare "barbarous" and added:

Assault Bombings
"Any general bombing of an extensive area wherein there reside a large population engaged in peaceful pursuits is contrary to every principle of law and humanity."

The state department said Hull's address had been dispatched to world capitals and would be available if foreign offices wanted it. However, American embassies and legations were not given instructions, they said, to pass it on to foreign governments.

In addition to asserting this country's willingness to limit arms and agree to a humane code of war practices, the secretary of state said the United States was prepared to join other nations:

(1) "In directing every effort toward the restoration and strengthening of sound and constructive international economic relationships.

(2) "In exploring all other methods of revitalizing the spirit of international cooperation."

British Take Walker Trophy

Win Amateur Honors for First Time Since Series Began

St. Andrews, Scotland—(U)—Great Britain's Walker cup golf team today defeated the United States, 7 matches to 4, with one halved, for Britain's first victory in the international series that began in 1922.

Going into the final day's singles competition with a 2-1 lead gained in yesterday's Scotch foursomes, the Britons won five of the eight singles tests to take the cup after nine successive United States victories.

Alex Kyle of England, No. 8 in the singles line-up, came through with the triumph that clinched the British victory. He turned back Fred Haas, Jr., of New Orleans, 5 and 4 to make the standing 6 matches to 4, and Cecil Ewing, 21-year-old Irishman who lost to Charley Yates in the British amateur final last Saturday, then made the final score 7 to 4 with a one-up decision over Ray Billows of Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

The other British winners were Hector Thomson of Scotland, by 6 and 4 over United States amateur champion Johnny Goodman; Charles Stowe of England, by 2 and 1 over Charles (Chuck) Kocis of Detroit; and Gordon Peters, another Scot, by 9 and 8 over Reynolds Smith of Dallas, who failed to solve the riddle of the vast, lightning-fast St. Andrews greens.

Duncan Gets 1-2 Years in Auto Tragedy

Sentenced to House of Correction After Judge Reduces Charge

GRANTED 10-DAY STAY
Judge Says Ends of Justice Will be Served by Fourth Degree Sentence

Milwaukee—(U)—Thomas M. Duncan, politically powerful executive secretary to the governor, was under sentence of one to two years imprisonment for manslaughter today in the case growing out of a hit-and-run auto death last March.

Circuit Judge C. N. Risjord of Ashland, who convicted him, directed that sentence be served in the Milwaukee House of Correction.

Sentence was passed on a fourth degree manslaughter charge, although the court declared the facts brought out in the seven-day trial justified conviction of manslaughter in the first degree.

After leaving the bench, the court explained:

"While I felt Mr. Duncan was really guilty of first degree manslaughter, I felt the ends of justice would be just as well served by sentencing him for fourth degree."

Explains Action
"I did that (included a finding Duncan was guilty of first degree manslaughter) because I'm not so sure the fourth degree conviction would stand. I tried to protect this case so that if a sentence under a fourth degree conviction can't be sustained, the defendant could be sentenced for first degree manslaughter. If the supreme court should send the case back, I feel there's no alternative but first degree."

Duncan, former Socialist assemblyman and state senator, was tried for the death of Henry F. Schuetz, 69-year-old retired West Allis business man, in an automobile accident the night of March 9. The state charged he was driving while intoxicated and fled the accident scene.

The court touched only briefly on Duncan's medical defense and declared:

"There is no question in this case but that the defendant had overindulged at the time in intoxicating liquor, and that that was the cause of loss of control of his car, and not due to any disease."

After reviewing the testimony, Judge Risjord said:

"I am therefore constrained to find under the evidence in this case that the defendant is guilty of manslaughter in the first degree."

Cash Is Stolen From Post Office

Federal Inspectors Investigating $30 Burglary At Menasha

Menasha—Small change totalling $30 was taken between 9 o'clock last night and 4 o'clock this morning in a burglary at the Menasha post office, according to Postmaster Joseph R. Coyle. The theft was discovered at 4 o'clock this morning when Joe Walburn and Reuben Haas came to work.

The chief inspector at Chicago was notified this morning by Mr. Coyle and federal inspectors are expected today. The Menasha police were also notified this morning.

The thief gained entry by breaking a small pane of glass in a window in the northwest corner of the building, turning the latch and opening the window. The money was taken from a desk at the stamp window. Other money at the post office is kept locked in the safe at night. The thief apparently knew where the money was kept for nothing else at the postoffice was disturbed. No stamps were taken.

Sheriff at Waukesha Asks Change of Venue

Waukesha—(U)—Counsel for Sheriff Walter A. Liskowitz, in a motion on file in circuit court today, asked Judge C. M. Davison for a change of venue in the pending trial of Liskowitz on charges of subornation of perjury and malfeasance in office.

Attorney Timothy T. Cronin of Oconomowoc requested that the trial be transferred out of Waukesha county because of "widespread prejudice" there.

The sheriff and 12 others, including former District Attorney Herman Salen, filed affidavits of prejudice against Judge Davison in their trial June 13 on charges of conspiracy to violate the gambling laws.

The 13 were named in an indictment by the grand jury May 19 during its investigation of gambling and vice in the county.

Wisconsin Republicans Vote for Open Primary at Fond du Lac Convention

Fond du Lac—(U)—Young Republicans of Wisconsin and potential candidates for office stamped the Republican state convention today in favor of an open primary.

Lawrence Donovan of Milwaukee, state vice chairman of the Young Republicans, brought wild cheers from the 1,500 delegates in support of a new convention rule barring endorsement of candidates, a like Donovan's motion for an open primary was backed by an amendment by former Congressman John Schaefer of Milwaukee, demanding that no officer or unit of the party shall directly or indirectly support any candidate in the primary.

The convention overwhelmingly approved both the Donovan motion and Schaefer's amendment.

With some seven or eight candidates being mentioned for United States senator and almost a like number for governor, the convention action, leaders believed, clears up the atmosphere. Adoption of the open primary rule had been anticipated. It was, in effect, forecast by permanent Chairman Louis J. Fellenz of Fond du Lac in his address to the convention today.

Stafford Backs Move
Another former Milwaukee congressman, William H. Stafford, whose banner disclosing his candidacy for the senatorial nomination fluttered over the convention platform, endorsed the new rule.

Schaefer declared there is "no difference between rubber stamp Duffy and rubber stamp LaFollette." He referred to the present Democratic and Progressive senators from Wisconsin. "Let's have all kinds of candidates in the field and let's not fight among ourselves," Schaefer advised.

"Let's leave it to the people to say who our standard-bearers will be," he said.

Fellenz earlier had warned all candidates for office in the primary election that they are subject to the judgment of the convention which tends toward the support of an open primary.

The latest candidate to inject his name into the Republican primary was John B. Chapple of Ashland, who announced yesterday he will run for the United States senate if the primary is not restricted by endorsements.

The committee on resolutions, which had before it proposals to bar any endorsement of candidates and to continue the voluntary state executive committee as a campaign organization, was selected in overnight conferences.

About 1,500 Delegates
Some 1,500 delegates from 71 counties assembled yesterday at the Fond du Lac armory to hear the keynote speech by Michael G. Eberlein, Shawano, and declarations by chairmen of the voluntary and statutory committees that harmony exists between the two groups.

"In Wisconsin both the Progressive and Democratic parties are so strongly supported by Socialists and red radicals that the great mass of our people cannot expect relief from either of these parties," said Chairman Fellenz.

"The leadership to guide the people of this state and nation sanely

Chinese Junks Attack Japanese Patrol Boat

Shanghai—(U)—Six large Chinese junks armed with steel plate looted and attacked a Japanese patrol vessel off the south China coast in what a Japanese naval spokesman called extension of guerrilla activity to the sea.

The attack, which took place off Kwangchow, southeast of Canton, was repulsed with the aid of naval aircraft, the spokesman said, three of the junks being set afire and sent to the bottom of the sea, and another being disabled. The other two escaped.

Meanwhile, Japanese advances from the Lunghai front reported further success in the Japanese drive on Kaifeng and Cheuchow, the capture of which would set the stage for a direct advance along the Peiping-Hankow railroad to Hankow, China's provisional capital.

Nellie Tayloe Ross Speaks in Milwaukee

Milwaukee—(U)—Never before in this country or any other have the resources of government been marshaled as now in warfare against the age-old evils hampering mankind's progress, Mrs. Nellie Tayloe Ross, director of the United States mint, told a star-studded rally of Wisconsin Democrats at a luncheon today.

Senator Sherman Minton (D-Ind.) was a last minute replacement speaker for Senator Claude Pepper (D-Fla.) tonight.

Mrs. Ross described the principal evils besetting progress as poverty, crime, disease, and economic bondage.

She took cognizance of the present economic slump but asserted it did not contain the despairing elements of the 1932 depression.

House Group Spurns Plan For Pay Bill

Against Minimum of 25 Cents Per Hour, 44-Hour Week for 2 Years

COMPROMISE SEEN
Plan Still May be Adopted By Joint Group 'As Final Resort'

Washington—(U)—House members of a joint committee on wage-hour legislation rejected today a proposal to set a minimum wage of 25 cents and maximum hours of 44 a week for a period of two years.

The discarded plan provided for a commission to report to congress in two years on the wage-hour question. Congress then could have enacted new legislation in line with the report.

The compromise was offered by Representative Hartley (R-N. J.) and supported by Representative Ramspeck (D-Ga.). It was opposed by the other five house conferees. It was not, therefore, submitted formally to the whole conference committee.

A senate conferee said, however, it might be submitted again and stood a chance of adoption "as a final resort" should the conference become deadlocked on the question of wage differentials.

Won't Fight Compromise
Chairman Norton (D-N. J.) of the house labor committee said she and her colleagues hoped for adoption of a modified version of the house bill by the conference committee, but that they would not block a compromise.

The question of sectional wage differentials is one major issue. Southern senators have insisted upon a lower base wage for the south than for the north.

But there were indications that if this failed, they would be willing to accept instead some lowering of southern freight rates.

Arguing these should be no higher than competitive northern rates, they have contended that whatever advantage southern industrialists gained from low wages they lost in high freight charges.

The only southern senators in the conference group, Ellender and Pepper, were said by other committee members to be agreeable to dropping wage differentials if a workable rate clause could be written into the bill.

Storms Kill Five In Three States

Heavy Property and Crop Damage Reported Over Wide Area

Wichita Falls, Texas—(U)—Tornado winds, lightning and hail killed five persons and wrecked heavy crop and property damage in widely separated portions of Texas, Oklahoma and Missouri yesterday and last night.

Explosion of an oil tank ignited by lightning killed Joe Battle, 36, and John Spell, 26, employees of the Mackhank Petroleum company at Eshelby, Texas. A. H. Marx, another workman, was injured seriously.

In Kansas City lightning killed two spectators at the $5,000 Kansas City open golf tournament. William D. Boyle, contractor, and E. M. Critchfield, a credit manager. Several others were injured.

Hubert Arlen Thomas, Jr., 6, was electrocuted at Lawton, Okla., when he walked into a radio aerial which had blown across a high tension line.

At Wichita Falls, at least ten persons were injured, seriously, and many derricks were toppled by a tornado which roared across the KMA oil field section. Damage was estimated at $50,000.

At Grandfield, Okla., near the Texas line a tornado wrecked five brick business buildings and from 20 to 30 homes. Two women were cut by flying glass.

Boxcar lines in the vicinity were blown down and the town of 1,000 population was plunged into darkness.

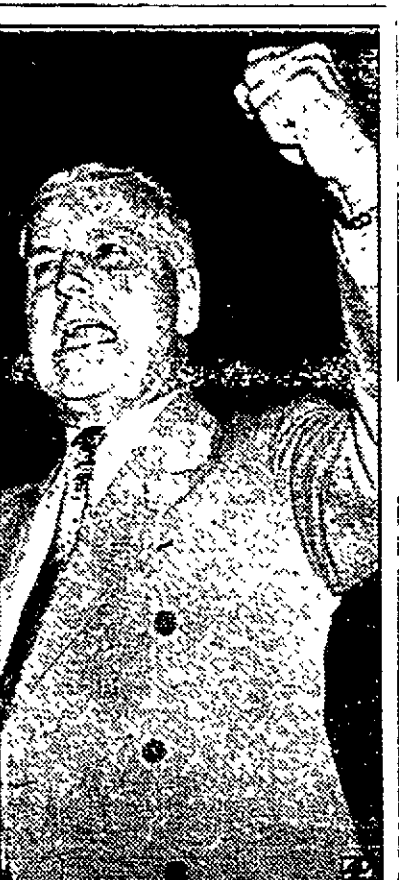

Parents Abandon Hope For Kidnaped Child

Princeton, Fla.—(U)—Wearied, grief-ridden James Bailey Cash, Sr., said today he was resigned to the death of his only child but convinced the kidnap-players would be caught.

Cash, his shoulders bent by fatigue and his eyes bloodshot from sleepless nights, appeared briefly on the porch of his home to express to reporters his thanks to the 2,000 persons who hunted fruitlessly for the blond five-year-old boy snatched from his bedroom last Saturday.

He indicated he had given up all hope of finding James, Jr., alive. The stricken father said Mrs. Cash still was under a physician's care but was "some better." Like himself, she has abandoned hope for her son's life.

Rejects Works Board's Resolution to Replace Pavement
RAP PUBLICITY
Too Much Talking About Paving, Aldermen Say in Debate

Mayor Goodland and Alderman VanderHeyden resigned from the board of public works, paving experts were accused of bias in their reports and aldermen, 8 to 4, authorized the city clerk to instruct the Charles A. Green and Son company to 'repair' the black top on College avenue during a stormy council session in city hall last night.

A resolution adopted by the board of public works to instruct the contractor to remove all the black top on the avenue and replace it with new material was tabled. Alderman Keller introduced the motion to repair the pavement.

Voting to repair the black top were Aldermen Steinhauser, Hartman, Keller, Knutli, Brautigam, McGillan, Kubitz and Franzke. Voting against the motion were two members of the board, Alderman Thompson and VanderHeyden, and two others, Aldermen DeLand and Grignon.

After three hours of endless arguments, accusations and insinuations, the session developed into a 7-ring circus, to the amusement of the large crowd gathered to find out what the council intended to do about the alleged pavement failure.

Explains Resignation
When he resigned, the mayor said: "I don't like the insinuations some of you aldermen have been making. It seems the mayor is being blamed because the pavement was laid in cold weather. That's not true because last fall I called a meeting to determine whether we should stop the contractor and an expert told you to go ahead with the paving. The pavement is there and has gone to pieces. It couldn't become ravelled on the sides because there was no traffic to ravel it."

I'm resigning because I don't want to serve on a board that has been accused of not working according to Hoyle. I've been accused of being prejudiced and I don't want to supervise the repair work on College avenue. Elect one of your own crowd," the mayor said.

Alderman VanderHeyden felt the same way about the situation and asked the mayor to nominate someone to sit in his place.

After insinuations that reports of experts engaged by the city to test the pavement as well as the board's report, were biased, Alderman Brautigam scored the Post-Crescent.

German Sea Captains Are Released on Bail

New York—(U)—Two German sea captains released on bail as mater witnesses in the federal inquiry into the activities of foreign spies in the United States, were aboard the North German Lloyd's liner Europa today, bound for Germany.

A third witness before the grand jury, Christian Danielson, a one-armed, German-born expert draftsman for the Bath (Maine) Iron works, was held in $10,000 bail. The iron works is building naval vessels.

The ship masters, after posting bail of $2,500 each, boarded the Europa last night, apparently with the knowledge and permission of federal agents and United States District Attorney Lamar Hardy.

The captains were Franz Friske of the Hamburg-American line's freighter Hindenberg and Heinrich Lorenz of the North German Lloyd line's freighter Chemnitz. Lorenz is former chief officer of the Europa.

French Act to Ease Tension With Turks In Northern Syria

Paris—(U)—The French declaration of martial law in the district of Alexandretta in northern Syria was reported today to have eased the tension between France and Turkey over pre-election rioting among Arabs and Turks.

Earlier, French official quarters had received reports 30,000 Turkish troops were gathered near the southern Turkish border adjacent to the district.

9 Persons Hurt When Two Autos Collide on Hill

One Machine With Five Persons Rolls 136 Feet Down Deep Ravine

Nine persons were injured when two cars collided about 11 o'clock last night on County Trunk N., a mile south of Kimberly, one car with five persons rolling 136 feet into a deep ravine and catching fire. The crash occurred when cars driven by Edward Bongers, 26, 213 Gertrude street, Kaukauna, and John Van Epen, 23, Kimberly, met at the top of a hill, according to Ronald Decker, county motorcycle officer.

Bongers, his wife, 23, and Mr. and Mrs. John Konz, 52 and 50 years of age, all occupants of the Bongers machine, occupied with business as the car swerved into a ditch. Riding in the Van Epen car which rolled into the ravine were Van Epen: Miss Phyllis Treichel, 17, Kimberly; Miss Elaine Parent, 18, Kimberly; August Krivitz, 20, 2024 W. Pierce avenue, Milwaukee; and Ed Van Elzen, 21, Combined Locks.

Van Epen, who suffered a skull fracture and lacerations about the face and head, was pulled from the car in the ravine after the accident by Bongers. Van Epen was in dazed condition. Bongers, and the car was beginning to burn about the motor and carburetor. Van Epen's condition was reported fair today at St. Elizabeth hospital.

Broken Collar Bone
Miss Treichel suffered a broken collar bone, cuts and bruises and is confined to St. Elizabeth hospital. Miss Parent and Krivitz also were cut and bruised and taken to the hospital by Van Epen and Miss Treichel by John Berber, route 4, Appleton. Van Elzen escaped with bruises.

The Van Epen machine was almost demolished and the Bongers car badly damaged.

Mrs. Elmer Verkuilen, 26, Menasha, was injured when the car in which she was riding driven by Henry Verkuilen, 25, Menasha, and another driven by Carl Krause, 23, 1248 W. Spencer street, collided on Memorial drive at Seymour street about 8:30 last night. Mrs. Verkuilen suffered severe bruises of the back and was taken to St. Elizabeth hospital.

The accident occurred as Verkuilen was going north on Memorial drive and Krause turned to go east on Seymour street, according to police.

Fails in Million Dollar Suit Against Government

Washington—(U)—R. W. Owen of Owen, Wis., failed in the United States Court of Claims today with a $1,190,144 suit he filed against the government as a result of the establishment of a Mississippi river floodway.

The court unanimously held that no unusual damages would be inflicted on the 20,000 acre three-state lumber tract near New Madrid, Mo., owned by Owen and others, by the building of the floodway by the war department.

The plaintiff sued on the grounds that completion of the 13,000 acre floodway between Birds Point, Ill., and New Madrid, would reduce the value of his timber land.

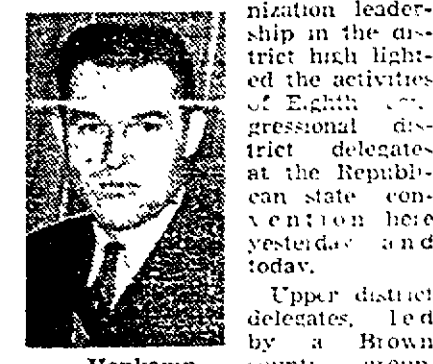

Youth Is Killed When Auto Goes Into Ditch

Watertown, Wis.—(U)—Leslie Luaders, 22, was fatally injured last night when an automobile driven by Walter Burkholz, 26, went into a ditch near Pipersville after getting out of control on the wet highway. Burkholz was not seriously hurt.

Honkamp Is New G.O.P. Chairman Of 8th District

Defeats Hegner at Fond du Lac—Boom! J. L. Johns For Congress

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
Post-Crescent Staff Correspondent
Fond du Lac—A boom for a candidacy of Joshua L. Johns, Alsoma manufacturer, for congress and a decisive reversal in the party organization leadership in the district high lighted the activities of the district delegates at the Republican state convention here yesterday and today.

Honkamp appeared at the convention hall Friday declaring for the party nomination of Johns, who has become a well known figure in the district through his work as a high official of Kiwanis. At the same time Elmer R. Honkamp, Outagamie county party chairman, successfully challenged the leadership of Orville Hegner, Appleton, and defeated him for the district chairmanship by a vote of 53 to 42.

Significant enough the Republican spokesmen from the Fox river valley counties who a few months ago were pessimistic about the congressional outlook this year today express confidence that Congressman George J. Schneider can be retired by their efforts this fall. Outagamie county delegates to the Republican convention stood unwaveringly for a wide open primary election.

More than 25 Outagamie county delegates were on hand today to oppose a probable move by Milwaukee county group to get convention endorsement for Julius Heil for governor.

Johns Ready To Run
J. Norman Basten, Brown county chairman who has conferred with Johns on a candidacy for congress, said he is being willing to run if the organization indicates that he will be acceptable.

William L. Crow, who has already been suggested in district caucuses as a likely offering, explained yesterday that he will enter the race on the same condition, organization support.

Two other men who have been discussed in party councils, Robert Bassett of Green Bay and Thomas J. Smith of Stevens Point, are definitely out of the picture, it was disclosed here.

Honkamp's election to the district leadership over Hegner climaxes a long and hostile battle between the two. Both campaigned strenuously among the nine county delegations from the Eighth district this week. Honkamp recently made peace with Edward J. Samp, principal party boss, with his resignation from the Republican-Democratic coalition committee.

Mrs. Herbert Wessner, Sturgeon Bay, was elected vice chairman for the party for the Eighth district over Mrs. George Holz, Green Bay, who held that post for the last two years.

Honkamp announced that the district organization will meet in two weeks to consider the question of candidates and campaign organization in the important Fox river valley counties, which party leaders are indicating they will count on heavily this year.

District Representatives
The Eighth district caucuses today have chosen the representatives to serve the four most important convention committees. Robert Bassett of Brown and Mrs. Fred Bendt of Outagamie, resolutions; Mrs. Frank Hanson, Kewaunee, and Harry Schuyler, Door, credentials; Roland Sanders, Oconto, and Mrs. Louis Phillips, Outagamie, rules; Irving Smith, Manitowish, and Mrs. George Holz, Brown, policy.

As observers and party veterans looked over the crowd which noisily jammed the caucuses here today, 1,500 delegate bodies had been disposed of when sessions got under way yesterday afternoon. They listed these things as significant: attendance of rank and file delegates from county and town which is at least 50 percent greater than that attracted by the party this year; the fact that the party is now a heavy sprinkling of young men and women; a freedom of expression and a prominent and obvious presence of the women on the party ticket.

These party spokesmen appeared to regard the caucuses as a popular interest in the Republican party than in recent years. It was noted that the party is now a youthful timber for leadership and future candidates, and that many party members feel that the party will bring victory for the Republican party in Wisconsin for the first time in eight years and for a long time.

The latter feature of the convention is particularly amusing to neutral spectators. Hotel corridors are swarming with candidates. Almost every congressional district has several men—and there are a few women—who are tussling for the well-known trial balloons of politics. It is not unlikely that there will be eight or nine contestants for the party nomination for the United States senate, while every other hotel room appears to harbor a potential candidate for Phil LaFollette's seat.

Republicans, on the surface at least, have every appearance of a new life. Whether that appearance is supported by reality the forth-

Alsted Will Leave Widow Bulk of Estate

Petition for probate of the will of Lewis L. Alsted, president of the Combined Locks Paper company who died at Chicago May 21, has been made in county court of Judge Fred V. Heinemann. The petition for probate says the estate contains personal property in excess of $25,000 and real estate of the probable value of $10,000.

Under terms of the will the widow is to receive the real estate in Appleton and personal effects of the paper manufacturer. The widow also will receive 90 per cent of the income of the estate, and a daughter, Mary Alsted, the remaining 10 per cent.

Walter Hanson Is Elected Chief of Guernsey Group

Calumet County Association Has Meeting at Chilton City Hall

Chilton—Walter Hanson was elected president of the newly-organized Calumet County Guernsey Breeders' association at a meeting held at the city hall here Wednesday. George Heller of Stockbridge was elected vice president, and Henry Becker of Brillion secretary-treasurer. The following directors were elected: Mitchell Stanelle of Forest Junction, Theodore Federwits of Chilton, August Ploekelmann of Chilton, Evon Phillips of Brothertown, and Ervin Seurer of New Holston.

George D. Britts, assistant secretary of the Wisconsin Guernsey Breeders' association discussed the many activities being carried out by the state organization to promote the Guernsey interests in this state. He pointed out how since 1920 the Guernseys had increased in popularity and in numbers throughout the United States by comparing the number of Guernseys in the various states in 1920 and in 1937. In 1920 the Guernseys were leading in only three states, and in 1937 they led in 16 and were second in 22 others.

In addition to a talk on Guernseys, three motion picture reels were shown, two depicting scenes of the Guernsey cow as she accompanied Admiral Byrd on his polar expedition.

The third reel was in color, showing the many steps in the sanitary methods employed in the distribution of Guernsey milk as produced on the farm and delivered to the consumer.

Mr. Britts pointed out how much had been the increase in the distribution of Guernsey milk in the larger cities throughout Wisconsin.

Will Attend Picnic
Calumet county Guernsey breeders plan to attend the Wisconsin Guernsey Breeders' picnic and field day to be held Thursday, June 9, at Pierce park in Appleton. They are planning to send a judging team consisting of three Calumet county Guernsey breeders and if possible to take along a 4-H club team to take part in the 4-H judging.

Applications for marriage licenses were made at the office of County Clerk Roland Miller during the last week by the following: Kenneth Voelkel and Sylvia Geiser, both of the town of Charleston; Carl Neuber, Stockbridge, and Romilda Freitag, Chilton.

Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Mullendorf have moved from the house at 217 Maryland street to the John Piper residence on E. School street.

The county immunization program conducted during the last few weeks by County Nurse Elda Bartels has resulted in the inoculation of 593 children against diphtheria. The program was carried out with the cooperation of the county physicians, and families were permitted to have the work done by their family doctor if they desired. The cost was met by the county.

The public schools and St. Martin's Lutheran school closed for the year on Friday afternoon, and the year-end examinations for the latter were held Thursday afternoon, and on Friday the children went on an outing to High Cliff.

Ward Al Rowbottom of Kenosha, grand lecturer of the Royal Arch of Wisconsin, held a school of instruction at the Masonic temple here Wednesday evening.

Musicians Will Meet Sunday at Labor Hall

Musicians will meet tomorrow in the Appleton Trades and Labor hall.

Other meetings scheduled for next week are as follows: Monday night, labor hall, plumbers; Tuesday night, labor hall, masons and laborers' district council; Salvation Army building, hotel and restaurant; Wednesday night, labor hall, trades and labor council; Thursday night, labor hall, pulp workers; Salvation Army building, power makers; Friday night, labor hall, common laborers; Salvation Army building, ironworkers.

Award Red Cross Life Saving Certificates

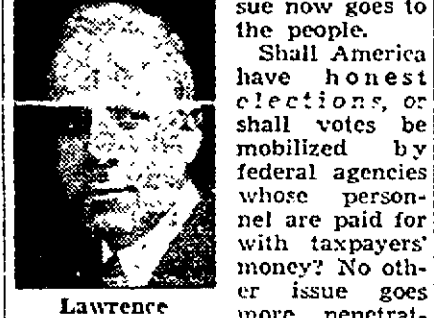

Four senior and ten junior Red Cross life saving certificates were awarded yesterday to boys who passed examinations given by George and Walter Klein at the Y. M. C. A. pool, according to Mrs. Mabel O. Shannon, executive secretary of Outagamie county chapter. Senior certificates were given to Francis Hallenbeck, James Bailey, Ralph Birchler and Charles Sample. Junior certificates went to Carlton Frederick, William Morris, James Miller, Edgar Thomas, Robert Green, Arthur Malchow, George Snow, Gordon Munson, Dale Berger and Albert Kollar.

The sixth district elected Chester D. Sheppard, Menasha, and Mrs. Margaret Heas of Adell.

Honest Elections Question Now Up To Voting Public

Senate Has Refused to Keep Relief Money Out of Politics, Lawrence Says

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Washington—Because the senate of the United States formally refused, by a vote of 40 to 37, to keep relief money out of politics and thus by indirectness affirmed the practice, the issue now goes to the people.

Shall America have honest elections? Shall votes be mobilized by federal agencies whose personnel are paid for with taxpayers' money? No other issue goes more penetratingly to the heart of honest government, because, if elections can be influenced by money taken out of the federal treasury so as to elect rubber stamp senators who will do the bidding of the executive branch of the government, the days of constitutional democracy as we have known it are numbered. The original theory was that the executive, legislative and judicial branches were each to be independent of the others.

In Iowa, the issue comes to a head on Monday. Senator Gillette, Democrat, is one of those who believe that the judicial branch of the government—particularly the supreme court of the United States—should be free from control by the president. He likewise believes that the Works Progress administration, headed by Harry Hopkins, and other agencies of the federal government charged with a humanitarian task should not become involved in politics of any kind.

Gillette's Cause
Mr. Gillette's cause is before the people of Iowa next Monday. A vote for him is a vote to approve independence in the legislative branch of government and a vote for clean and honest government. A vote against Mr. Gillette may not be so intended, but it can be construed as an affirmation of the policy of using relief agencies to mix in politics and help the administration to elect "rubber-stamp" members of congress.

If the voters in the Democratic party in Iowa decide that they want relief money used this way, it is, of course, their prerogative and the issue then becomes one for all the people of Iowa to decide next autumn when they face a man who will have won his nomination by federal funds and federal influence and a candidate of the opposite party.

Naturally, official Washington is intensely interested in the primary contest next week, from the fact that Senator Clyde Herring and Governor Kraschel of Iowa have come out for the candidacy of Senator Gillette, there is a feeling here that he may win, but, as is usual in various state situations, the political leaders here are not sufficiently in touch with conditions except in their own states to be willing to hazard a guess as to the outcome.

Mr. Gillette is by no means an anti-New Dealer, in fact he voted with the president on the bill to reorganize the executive departments. On most other questions, he has been on the side of New Deal. Punishment has been ordered by the "left wing" crowd in the administration solely because Mr. Gillette did not go along with the plan to "pack" the supreme court with six extra judges so as to influence the court decisions.

This question alone is being made the acid test of New Dealism, and it is strange indeed to see so much emphasis placed on this point when the matter itself has not been formally revived by the president. The inference to be derived from the strategy of the "left wingers" is that, if they can win a few victories at the polls and put out the senators who fought the measure, maybe the bill to control the supreme court will be brought up again at the January session of congress. Mr. Roosevelt is every now and then represented by his supporters as not having really abandoned his idea of making the supreme court of the United States subservient to the will of the chief executive.

The discussion of relief money in politics this week in the senate has been most revealing. Many senators were willing to place a restriction of the use of relief funds to prevent political activity. The amendment was by no means in drastic form and provided no criminal penalty at all. It merely would have served as notice to federal employees compensated by federal relief funds that they must not engage actively in politics. Amazingly enough, Senator Barkley of Kentucky, the administration leader, took the position that to cut out political activity on the part of federal employees left it open for state employees to continue political activity, and just now he is running for re-nomination against the governor of Kentucky.

In other words, politics has so eaten into the morals of American public life that two wrongs make a right and men apparently care more about keeping their jobs in government than they do about principle. This was when the mere mention of dishonesty or improper influence in elections was enough to make a real progressive boil over with rage and indignation. The scions of wealth who used to try to influence primary contests were held up to scorn and the condemnation by the progressives was sweeping, indeed. Today, to be a true progressive, in the New Deal sense, you must believe that the end justifies the means and that the political activity of executives of federal agencies engaged in relief work is not only proper but must be upheld on the floor of the senate.

Man-Mountain Dean Has Heart of Simple Patriot

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER
New York—With the campaign slogan "I may look nuts and act nuts, but I don't think nuts" Mr. Man-Mountain Dean is seeking a career in statesmanship as a candidate for the lower house of the Georgia legislature for Gwinnett county. Mr. Dean is known to thousands of lovers of clean sport and admirers of many physical grace and might in this country and the capitals of the old world, and he writes your correspondent that he decided to court the people's favor because he has nothing else to do.

To his many admirers it will not be necessary to recall that Mr. Dean was the one with the whiskers and the bulbous abdomen which looked and made squishy sounds as of a gigantic hot water bag, who used to engage in desperate wrestling contests with assorted Russian lions, German barons and masked marvels in the large centers and, later, on the leaky roof circuit. His contests with the masked marvels were his best.

Mr. Dean, large and of forbidding mien with his tangled foliage which gave him the appearance of a burst horseshair sofa would attack the masked marvel by several inches and perhaps 50 pounds and would suffer deep indignities at the hands of the man-mountain for perhaps 15 minutes. Mr. Dean would clout him on the back of the neck with vicious blows of his clenched fists, throw him over the ropes into the spectators' laps, and even insert his thumbs in the eyeballs of the little man's mask.

This would enrage some of the customers, and there would be loud cries of "boo!" "fool!" and the more chivalrous among them would threaten to leave their seats and avenge injustice by hand. Always some of them would resolve to wait outside the actors' entrance and gang the man-mountain if he should win. But the scenario obviated that.

Kicks In The Whiskers
After the first phase of the struggle the masked marvel, made desperate by outrageous impositions, would haul off and fetch Mr. Dean a swift kick right in his large and undulating middle and flee in terror of his wrath to a corner of the ropes. Mr. Dean, with a wild whinny of rage, would take after him, and the masked marvel would jump the top rope, swing both feet off the floor, and kick the man-mountain flush in the whiskers. Mr. Dean would reel back, dazed and baffled, shake his head and come in again, roaring fearfully. Just in time to catch another kick of both feet in his evil countenance.

Sometimes it took three such kicks, sometimes as many as four, to send the mountain crashing backward to the floor, where he would lie, moist and heaving and emitting watery roars, like a beached whale, while the masked marvel, with a scream of triumph, leaped amid the voluptuous hummocks and folds of his torso to pin his shoulders.

Sometimes, when they had to catch a train, they would abbreviate the opus, but even in its curtailed state it was full of drama, strife and violence, and the climax was such that the patrons never mobbed the man-mountain at the door.

will become aroused over this decline in morality in government and express their resentment at the polls—a resentment which, unless expressed effectively, may lead in subsequent years to a loss of faith in the situation of government and a return to the medieval ideas which have swept fascist Europe, namely that political bickering and manipulations can be forcefully eradicated only by dictatorship. Army Prepares for 'Backyard' Invasion By Putting Mexico in Secret Defense Plans

The United States isn't overlooking the chance that the western hemisphere might be invaded. Recent maneuvers in Texas, in the Pacific ocean and along the eastern seaboard have shown that the Monroe Doctrine makes both America's concern of Uncle Sam. So the problem of defending this hemisphere has been investigated by Alexander R. George, he tells about it in three articles. The last follows.

BY ALEXANDER R. GEORGE
Washington—(7)—Protection of Mexico against military invasion is an important part of secret plans for defense of the United States.

For more than a century our southern neighbor—rich in resources but poor in cash—has been relying for security upon two points: its geographical isolation from expansion-minded nations, and U. S. maintenance of the Monroe Doctrine.

That reliance is bolstered by the belief, widely held in official circles of both countries, that Uncle Sam could not afford to allow an armed invasion of his "backyard" because of its threat to the safety of this country. U. S. defense strategists constantly have in mind the possibility of an attempted surprise attack by way of Mexico.

From 400 years ago—when Cortez subdued Mexico—to the present day, nations hungry for resources have cast covetous eyes on "the treasure house of the world." Tremendously rich in minerals, oil and water-power possibilities, Mexico would be rated tempting pickings for a power, or combination of powers, bent on territorial expansion in the western hemisphere.

It Happened—Once
For only one brief period in the last century did Mexico fall under foreign military and political domination—the regime of Austria's Archduke Maximilian, set up as emperor of Mexico with the aid of Napoleon III during our Civil war. But as soon as the war was ended, the United States punctured Napoleon's dream of a French colonial empire in Central America by forcing withdrawal of the French troops from Mexico under threat that a veteran Union army would be sent, if necessary, to drive them out.

Again in 1912 the United States uttered a "hands off" Mexico notice. The Senate, extending the application of the Monroe Doctrine to include Asiatic as well as European powers, frustrated an alleged effort by a Japanese syndicate to get control of land on Magdalena Bay, Lower California.

A Senate resolution held that the occupation by any non-American state of a harbor or other place which might threaten the communications or safety of the United States would be viewed with grave concern by our government.

Military Morale High
The Mexican military establishment has been greatly improved in the last 10 years but it lacks the warships, heavy artillery and aircraft to withstand for long an attack in force by a first class power. The army has some 50,000 men, about 60 airplanes, and a small amount of artillery. The navy consists of 10 small coast defense vessels and a few auxiliary ships.

The army has a large, excellent cavalry force and the morale of all branches of the military service is rated high. Familiar with the Mexican terrain, these troops could work effectively with U. S. army units to repel an invader.

U. S. Fleet Main Bulwark
An efficient railway network in Mexico, and the new Pan-American highway running from Laredo, Texas, to Mexico City, would be valuable arteries for speeding troops,

Edison Products Plant Is Granted Industrial Bonus

Council Votes to Take $2,100 From City's Promotion Fund

New London — A cash industrial bonus of $2,100 was granted by the city of New London to the Edison Wood Products Incorporated at a special meeting of the common council at the city hall last night. Application for the bonus was made by the company to offset an increase of $2,800 in taxes for 1938, which the Edison company considered unfair, it was explained to the council by Thomas F. Fitzgerald, manager of the New London plant.

The sum will be drawn from a special city fund for promoting industry in the city, set up according to law by a referendum vote in 1935. This plan calls for an appropriation of $2,000 a year and there is now a little under $6,000 available, it was reported by Mayor E. W. Wendlandt.

An appeal for the bonus was made by Manager Fitzgerald to promote good will between the city of New London and an outside corporation which is operating a large industry in this city at an annual loss for the benefit of local labor.

Tax Considered Unfair

An income tax of $2,800 in taxes this year was considered unfair by the main office of the Edison company, Fitzgerald reviewed, and an appeal to the board of review brought no satisfaction. After adjourning sine die with no further authority the board of review inspected the plant as a body and unanimously agreed that the assessment had been excessive, Mayor Wendlandt informed the council.

Much discussion on the correction of the matter preceded the council action with opposition led by Aldermen William Little, Harry Emans and Lynn Springmire felt the payment of the bonus should be given to a referendum vote or corrected in next year's tax assessments. The mayor explained a referendum was out of order and responsibility rested with the council. Immediate action was required to maintain the good will of the company, the mayor advised. Only Little and Matt Clark voted no in the final balloting.

The New London Plant

The new Edison plant, manufacturing nursery and juvenile furniture since radio cabinet making was discarded in 1932, is a "white elephant" among the Edison industries and has operated at a total cash loss of about $210,000 during the last eight years, Fitzgerald reported. In 1932 the loss with depreciation was $107,878; less depreciation, $68,000. Sales amounted from $156,000 in 1932 to $433,000 in 1937, with losses last year amounting to $12,741 with depreciation, $5,900 cash without.

125 Are Employed

About 125 workmen are employed at the plant at present. The payroll last year amounted to $168,000, according to figures submitted. The Edison corporation hopes to build the local industry into a self-supporting unit so that it may be sold, Fitzgerald explained. For the benefit of New London labor he advised the city cooperate with the company as much as possible lest an antagonistic attitude result in the closing of the plant completely.

The council also met to purchase a truck for use in the Hatten Memorial Park WPA project and approved a used reconditioned 1934 truck from a local dealer for $355. The board of public works advised purchase of a truck since the city was paying $12 a day for hired truck at the park. Operation of a city owned truck would repay the investment in 30 days, they pointed out. On the board are Frank Mealing, Lynn Springmire and William Behm.

F. A. Jennings appeared before the council and complained of the action of the city council in purchasing an order of shrubbery and plant goods from Madison at a cost of $26. The New London Floral company has donated flowers and shrubbery for city parks and the cemetery for years, he declared, and when the first purchase is made by the city it is made out-of-town. Mayor Wendlandt upheld Jennings' stand but referred him to the cemetery committee.

Girl Scout Troop Has 4 Additional Members

New London — Four more members were taken into the Girl scout troop directed by Mrs. Catherine Gens at a meeting at the city hall council chambers yesterday afternoon. The troop now numbers 76 enrollees.

Tenderfoot tests will be passed by many of the girls at the meeting next Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Games will be played afterwards at one of the city playgrounds and Doris Markman, Iles Leach and Arline Bringer were appointed to plan the games and make arrangements.

Memorial Park Pool To Be Opened Monday

New London — The Hatten Memorial Park swimming pool will open definitely Monday afternoon, it was announced today by R. M. Shortell, city recreation director. Filling of the pool was completed today, the bath house has been cleaned and painted, the inner guard fence has been erected and other details have been made ready. Free refreshments will be given to patrons during the first week as long as the supply lasts, Shortell announced. The pool will be open from 2 o'clock in the afternoon to 10 o'clock in the evening.

Four Teams Slate Practice Games

Older Men's League to Hold Organization Session Next Week

New London — Four teams will open activities in the Older Men's softball league with an organization session and practice games at the Washington grounds next Thursday evening, according to R. M. Shortell, city recreation director. Two more teams may be added later.

Teams represented at a preliminary meeting this week were the Edison, Bordens, and two from the Lutheran Men's club. Team 1 and Team 2 of the Men's club and the Edison and Bordens will tangle in the practice tilt. The Knights of Columbus and the Methodist Men's club are expected to enter a team by the following week.

Final rosters of 12 men to each team will be submitted at the meeting Thursday. Players will be allowed to play with only one team throughout the season and must not be a player in any other city softball league. Independent players not represented by the participating groups will be accepted for a position on any of the teams or may be formed into a new team. The league is open to all men over 30 years of age or those under 30 without much softball experience.

With a 4-team league all games will be played once a week at 6:30 Thursday evenings at the Washington High school grounds. If more teams are organized games will be played on Tuesday evenings also.

Band to Perform In Lions Parade

Spencerian College Organization to Play at New London

New London — A half hour concert by the nationally famous Spencerian College 60-piece band will feature the passing of the Lions State convention caravan through this city Sunday morning.

On its way from Milwaukee to Marshfield, the caravan of delegates with the band at its head is expected to reach New London about 10:40 Sunday morning. New London Lions will meet the procession at the Triangle school south of the city and escort the line into town. After the parade through the business section the band will stop at Taft's park for the concert, after which the caravan will proceed to Marshfield by way of Weyauwega, Waupaca and Stevens Point.

Another feature of the program will be the appearance of Harold Schmidt, Milwaukee, a blind man who will demonstrate the abilities of one of the trained "seeing" police dogs which have been developed to help the blind. Aid to the blind and poor of vision is one of the major projects of the Lions clubs.

Class of 1888 Takes Part In Graduation Exercises of Class of 1938 at Waupaca

Waupaca — Commencement exercises for the class of 1938 were concluded Thursday evening when 84 students received their diplomas and heard from Rexford F. Mitchell, professor of speech at Lawrence college, that "education is a life-long process." The alumnus is an unfinished product, information alone will not develop individuals, it takes more than facts. Habits, attitudes, a sense of values, appreciation, go to make up this individual. In this age of confusion, standardization and propaganda, democracy and its citizenship is being seriously challenged—the best defense is to see that our democracy functions."

Referring to the "age of confusion" with its attendant fear of dictatorship as expressed by Mr. Mitchell, Alvin W. K. Evans, Green Bay, member of the class of 1888 which shared honors with the class of 1938 in having a part in the commencement program, said that he had the assurance on that graduation night 50 years ago to talk of "The Future of America" and to state "that the offices and prizes to be at the disposal of future presidents of the United States will make the gifts of Anthony, Caesar and Lepidus seem like boys playing marbles."

Points to Changes

Mr. Evans said his class was graduated before automobiles were found in ditch after the war of July, before the advent and exit of the eighteenth amendment, before woman's suffrage, before telephones and their ceaseless chatter, before radios, before children knew little or nothing of Lincoln, Washington, Florence Nightingale, but everything of Amos and Andy and Charlie McCarthy.

Alluding to the members of the class of 1888, six of whom survive of that class of nine and four of whom were present, he quoted from Oliver Wendell Holmes: "We shall always be jolly and joyous and gay. Till the last dear companion drops silently away." In addition to Mr. Evans there were present Mrs. Mary Lowell, Rhineland; L. K. Bronson, Oshkosh, and James Demarest, Kimberly. The reunion included a visit to the bedside of a former teacher of the group, Miss Marie Chamberlain, who has been an invalid for 25 years.

Miss Carla Waller was the presiding chairman of the commencement program, paying tribute to parents for their sacrifices in bringing their children through four years of high school and to the point in their lives when it would be up to them to show that there was still an opportunity for success.

"Terque Quaterque Beati," which translated means three and four times blest, by Marilyn Button, was a resume of the public school systems under the dictators of Europe and a comparison with every class in the United States which is blessed with freedom of thought and education.

A cornet solo, "My Buddy," by Robert Klake, accompanied by Margaret Misdall, and "Sylvia" by the senior girls' octet were interspersed through the program. The invocation and the benediction were delivered by the Rev. Hugh A. Misdall.

84 Graduates

New London Society

New London — A party for members of the American Legion auxiliary who made poppy wreaths for the Memorial day drive was held at the home of Mrs. A. C. Borchardt yesterday afternoon. Fifteen of the nineteen workers were present. A picnic lunch was held, followed by cards. Prizes in five hundred were won by Mrs. George Mankske, Mrs. Walter Smith and Mrs. James Graham.

Wreaths were made by the group at the home of Mrs. Graham last week. The report on the sale of poppies and wreaths is still incomplete, according to Mrs. Helmut Ehrenreich, chairman. Workers for whom the party was given were Mrs. Al Stern, Mrs. Louis Kurszevski, Mrs. D. B. Egan, Mrs. Harvey Greenlaw, Mrs. Lenora Wyman, Mrs. George Mankske, Mrs. Walter Smith, Mrs. Richard Gohrke, Mrs. Oscar Nemschoff, Mrs. Floyd Dudley, Mrs. A. G. Van Alstine, Mrs. L. J. Mankske, Mrs. Art Zierner, Mrs. Leonard Cline, Mrs. Helmut Ehrenreich, Mrs. A. C. Borchardt, Mrs. Otto Krueger, Mrs. R. V. Pahl and Mrs. James Graham.

Nine tables were entertained at a benefit card party for the Veterans of Foreign Wars auxiliary at the home of Mrs. Arthur Lash yesterday afternoon. Prizes were won as follows: schafkopf, Mrs. Emma Ruhsam, Mrs. Rosaline Schoenrock; five hundred, Mrs. George Thomas, Mrs. Fred Fergot; bridge, Mrs. Henry Lippold, Mrs. Guy Blondie.

Assisting Mrs. Lash as hostesses were Mrs. Leonard Cline, Mrs. Del Collar, Mrs. George White, Mrs. Martin Abraham and Mrs. Frank Davis.

The Neighborhood club held a surprise party for the home of Mrs. Ed Kluchski Thursday evening in honor of her birthday anniversary. An extra table was entertained and prizes went to Mrs. Paul Schulz, Mrs. Lizzie Roloff and Mrs. Lottie Kluchski. Next week Mrs. Martha Jossie will entertain the club.

District Attorney And Sheriff Urge Care by Motorists

Waupaca — A warning to motorists has just been issued by Paul Roman, district attorney, and Duane Campbell, sheriff, of Waupaca, county, calling attention to: "Vacation days are here again—and once more the air is filled with the gleeful shouts of children but recently released from the cares and discipline of school."

"Vacation days bring greater hazards to all motorists—and for that reason we exhort you to drive carefully, to keep a proper lookout, and to use courtesy and good judgment. It may be that vacation days are happy days—let them not be marred by tragedy."

Drunken Driver's License Revoked

Amherst Man Barred From Road for Year After Accident

Waupaca — John Hopkins, Amherst, had his license revoked for one year when he pleaded guilty Thursday in the court of Justice S. W. Johnson of drunken driving.

Hopkins' car, coming from the west on Highway 10 Sunday afternoon, veered across the road at Chady's corners and crashed into a trailer which was pulled by a Missouri car, and was parked at the edge of the concrete. An automobile, driven by a Chicago man, going west, turned quickly to avoid hitting the Hopkins car, but the latter swung back into its lane and badly damaged the Chicago car.

City Swimming Pool To Be Opened Monday

Hot summer days will mean nothing to Appleton boys and girls who like to swim for the municipal swimming pool will be opened Monday morning, according to Alderman Kubitz, chairman of the recreational committee of the city council.

Marion Forster and James Bailey will be in charge of the pool this year and will act as life guards. The pool will be open from 9 to 11:30 in the morning, 1:30 to 5 o'clock in the afternoon and from 7 to 9 o'clock in the evening. Girls days will be Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays while boys may use the pool on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays.

Adjourns Claims Hearing Against Hatten's Estate

Mrs. Beatrice Monsted, Who Seeks $31,000, Testifies This Morning

Waupaca — County Judge A. M. Scheller this morning adjourned until June 13 hearing on two claims totaling $31,000 of Mrs. Beatrice Monsted, New London, against the estate of William H. Hatten, wealthy New London lumberman.

Photostatic copies of papers on business transactions of Hatten in Florida are to be secured in an attempt to prove that Hatten's signature on a note for $25,000 held by Mrs. Monsted is genuine. The other claim for $6,000 is for board and lodging.

Mrs. Monsted testified this morning that Hatten had given her the note in appreciation for hospitality shown him and that the money was to be paid from his estate after his death. Mrs. Monsted said she had entered the $6,000 claim upon advice of her attorneys.

Frank Jennings, New London, superintendent of the Hatten Memorial park, testified yesterday afternoon that there were times when Mr. Hatten was fully capable of doing business. Testimony designed to show that Hatten was failing mentally during the last few months of his life was given by other witnesses at the hearing which opened Thursday.

Republicans for Open Primary in Wisconsin Race and sympathetically must be found within the Republican party. This party must be the instrumentality.

"The Republicanism of Abraham Lincoln must be, and I am confident will be, the Republicanism of today."

Congressman Dewey Short of Missouri told the night session of the convention that the Republican party, since Lincoln, has been the builder of the nation.

"This government of ours has a two-party system and it will never have a multiple party system," he said.

Short threw off his coat as he launched into an attack on the Roosevelt administration.

"The Democrats, since the civil war, have elected but two presidents—and one king," he declared.

"Public Sale" in 1936

"Roosevelt has promised everything but the home of the capital, and he was swept into power. The American people have to go haywire every so often. We do so often. In 1933, Cleveland was elected because the Republicans had internal dissension. In 1912, we tried to elect two presidents and couldn't. In 1932, there again was Republican dissension.

"We didn't have an election in 1936; we had a public sale. And what the politicians couldn't buy, they stole."

Short, charging misuse of relief funds, asserted:

"We should lay down the rule that any able-bodied man on relief who refuses to work should not be permitted to eat."

After election of Fellenz as permanent chairman, the convention chose the following officers:

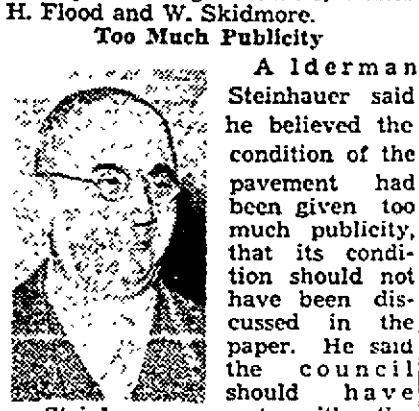

Permanent secretary, Roy L. Brecke, Milwaukee; parliamentary, State Senator Maurice Coakley of Beloit; Sergeant-at-arms, Emil Hartman of Madison.

The platform to be presented to the convention late today by the resolutions committee contained a concise statement of principles over which there was expected to be little disagreement.

"It will be a stream-lined platform," said Howard Greene of Geneseo depot, one of the drafters.

Council Votes to Repair Avenue by Patching Surface

For printing the reports compiled by expert Chicago chemists, Walter H. Flood and W. Skidmore.

Too Much Publicity

A Idlerman Steinhauser said he believed the condition of the pavement had been given too much publicity, that its condition should not have been discussed in the paper. He said the council should have met with the contractor and thrashed the thing out.

A. W. Dow, vice president of Colprovia Roads, Inc., addressed the council and claimed the pavement had ravelled because it was laid in cold and wet weather. He maintained that his type of pavement amalgamated slowly in cold weather and needed warm weather and traffic to congeal.

He said the pavement is hardening up well and would show no more wear. His recommendation to the council was to spread a thin coat of asphalt emulsion on the present ravelled surface, tamp a mixture of colprovia in the holes and then spread a thin coat of Colprovia over the wearing surface.

The mayor asked Dow if he was connected with the Colprovia company and Dow answered: "Yes, I'm vice president and chief engineer."

Dow was questioned very carefully by Alderman DeLand who said: "You admit that it's poor policy to lay pavement in cold, rainy weather."

Dow answered yes.

Asks About Plant

"Do you think the type of plant used to mix the materials had anything to do with the situation?" Alderman DeLand asked.

Dow said no. Alderman DeLand came back with: "Why, common sense will tell anybody that something is wrong with the pavement, you can see it for yourself. The first block was going to pieces before the second block was completed."

"We asked the experts whether it would be smart to stop the contractor," DeLand continued, "and we were told by our engineer, the VanTrump Laboratories and the contractor to go ahead and lay the pavement."

Dow said that Flood, who advised the city to tear up the pavement and replace it anew, was qualified to test asphalt but that he was not acquainted with Colprovia. He said the contractor did not intend to tear up any of the black top.

Asked about the 'clay balls' which Skidmore said he found in the paving material, Dow said he had been unable to find any 'clay balls' in the pavement. "Flood sent me samples which I tested and I didn't find any in it. I don't think there are any 'clay balls' in the pavement," he declared.

Inspects Sample

The mayor showed Dow a sample of black top full of uncoated particles and Dow explained they were uncoated because wet weather, at the time the pavement was laid, prevented them from becoming coated. He said the particles would become coated with warmer weather and the weight of traffic.

Alderman Steinhauser commented: "I'm one of the aldermen who voted for Colprovia to give a home company the work. We all admit that weather conditions were bad but the Greens are reliable and I believe we should give them a chance to fix it. Jealousy among contractors and others who don't want Colprovia started this whole argument."

"It won't do, any harm to go ahead and put the street in shape," Alderman Brautigam stated. "If we wait up the street, maybe we'll get a good job and maybe we won't. I'm one of those who voted for the pavement. I admit College avenue is bad but if I was to vote for another pavement, I'd vote for the same pavement," he said.

Green Wants Chance

Carson Green, representing the Green company, said: "A Colprovia expert has assured us he will remain here while the street is being repaired. We intend to permit traffic on the side strips and will not close up the street during repairs. Give us a chance to prove we can give you a first class pavement."

Alderman Keller stated: "I voted for this pavement because I thought it was a good pavement and I still think so. Green is entitled to some consideration and Dow says it can be repaired. It seems to me we ought to allow the company to repair the street before we ask them to tear it up. Flood didn't strike me as being wholly unbiased in his report."

Mayor Goodland reminded the council that Flood, one of the experts engaged to test the material, advised that the black top be removed and replaced. He then quoted the following from Skidmore's report: "Wherever a raveling of the wearing surface has occurred the ravelled surface should be removed to the binder course and replaced with new material, properly laid. I do not consider resurfacing over badly ravelled areas with new topping would be adequate or reliable restitution."

Says Board Honest

Replying to insinuations about the sincerity of the board of public works, Alderman Thompson said: "The board is just as honest as some of the other aldermen. It seems that if the board doesn't report as some of you want it to, why then it's crooked. The pavement was an experiment when it was laid and it has failed. You can cover up a mistake with a thin coating to satisfy some people so go ahead. Maybe we'll tear it up again."

Alderman VanderHeyden explained that he based his opinion on the chemists' reports. He said, "I've admitted that the paving now is at fault. I believe the contractor was sincere in his effort to deliver a good pavement. However, we adopted the resolution in the interest of justice and the taxpayers. We didn't bargain for a patched pavement. The board was sincere in believing it has something on its hands which it does not want and which does not agree with the contract."

Speeder Is Fined $15 In Municipal Court

Eldie Wheeler, 21, 1315 W. Summer street, pleaded guilty of speeding and was fined $15 and costs with an alternative of 30 days in county detention camp by Judge Thomas H. Ryan in municipal court yesterday afternoon.

Wheeler was arrested by city police Thursday on Memorial drive.

Fair Weather Is Weekend Forecast

Temperatures Will Remain 'About the Same'; 73 at Noon Today

The weatherman today promised residents of Appleton and vicinity a weekend of good weather.

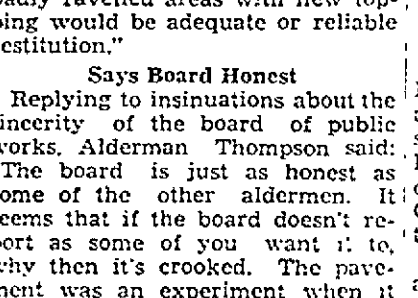

"Fair tonight and Sunday" was the edict issued by the Milwaukee bureau today, and it applies to the entire state. Temperatures will remain about the same as today's, it was reported.

At noon today the thermometer atop the Post-Crescent building registered 73 degrees. For the 24-hour period ending at 9 o'clock this morning, the highest mark in the city was 79 and the lowest 59, according to charts at the Wisconsin Michigan Power company plant. The shower that descended on the city suddenly last evening and the periodic drizzles that followed measured .22 of an inch.

Phoenix, Ariz., was again at the top of the nation's weather chart yesterday with a maximum of 106 degrees. Yellowstone's 38 was coldest.

Pioneer Dies at Hortonville Home

Joseph Birmingham, 85, Succumbs After Illness

Hortonville—Joseph Birmingham, 85, pioneer resident of Hortonville, died at 5:30 this morning at his home after an illness of several weeks.

Mr. Birmingham was born May 14, 1853, in a log cabin in the town of Hortonville. He moved to Hortonville when a young man and lived here all his life. Mr. Birmingham was active in musical organizations and learned to play the violin and drum at an early age.

Surviving are the widow; one daughter, Mrs. Noel Lang, Saginaw, Mich.; one son, George, Glasgow, Mont.; one step daughter, Miss Olive Letzke, Hortonville; two step sons, Oliver Letzke, Hortonville; Milton Letzke, Krakow, Wis.; two brothers, William, Seattle, Newnam, Milwaukee, and two grandchildren.

John, Frank, and Rudolph, Nowak, Appleton; Joseph, Chippewa Falls; Louis, Milwaukee; four sisters, Mrs. Louise Zinsli, Chippewa Falls; Mrs. Joseph Fall, Marshalltown, Ia.; Mrs. Roman Plach and Mrs. Agnes Sonleitner, Appleton; 10 grandchildren.

The funeral will be held at 8:30 Tuesday morning at Wichmann Funeral home with services at 9 o'clock at St. Joseph's church. Burial will be in the parish cemetery.

The body will be at the funeral home from Thursday afternoon to the hour of services. Prayers will be conducted there by Christian Mothers society at 7:30 Sunday night and by Third Order of St. Francis at 7:30 Monday night.

It Is Said--

That Roy Schultz, 24, 521 N. Superior street, had some difficulty in getting his car off a section of North street torn up for improvement after he drove his car through open barricades about 12:30 this morning. The barricades apparently had been opened for passage of a car and had not been replaced and Schultz failed to see them until too late, police were told.

WPA Project to Start At High School Monday

Remodeling of the old senior high school building under a WPA project will begin Monday morning, according to A. J. Lytle, Jr., supervisor for the board of education. The structure will be remodeled to house the grades now at Lincoln school, the orthopedic school and offices of the superintendent of schools and the board of education. Lincoln school will be vacated and turned over to the city to be used as a city hall.

Drives Car Without License, Fined $25

Judge Thomas H. Ryan in municipal court yesterday afternoon fined William E. Hargrave, 34, Elgin hotel, $25 and costs with an alternative of 60 days in the county detention camp when he pleaded guilty of driving a car without a license. Hargrave was arrested by city police Thursday evening.

High School Youth Will Be Band Concert Soloist

Albert Wickesberg, an outstanding flute and piccolo player at Appleton High school, will be the featured soloist when the 120th Field Artillery band gives its first summer concert at 8 o'clock Tuesday evening in Pierce park.

Wickesberg, who has won first places in state music contests, will play a piccolo solo "Through the Air" by August Damm. During his appearance, E. C. Moore, Appleton High school band director, will conduct the artillery band.

Orville J. Thompson, conductor of the 120th Field Artillery band, has arranged to have an accomplished musician from a high school band in this area present a solo at each summer concert. The director of the band in which the student plays will conduct the artillery band at each occasion.

Herbert E. Lutz and George H. Acker will provide another of the evening's highlights, a trumpet duet "Short and Sweet" by T. V. Short. Trombone smears, jaunty marches, and sparkling popular music will make up the bulk of Tuesday night's program and of those to follow. Gifts totaling $20 will be distributed among those attending the concert.

AGE AND THE ARTERIES

In the trial of Tom Duncan at Milwaukee it was claimed by the defendant that he was not intoxicated when his car struck and killed a pedestrian but that, in medical parlance, he had "an angiospasm associated with cerebral arteriosclerosis," which accounted for his loss of memory, his insensibility to his surroundings and his indifference to or unconsciousness of the danger his driving created for others.

There was the usual evidence that as the years come on arteries tend to harden, a process as natural as any part of aging but highly irregular in its manifestations and in the age at which it strikes men.

The heavier weight of the evidence was against the defendant's claim that what admittedly transpired could be attributed to a condition of the arteries in his brain. In this respect Nature is just and thoughtful. Were it otherwise every intoxicated person past the age of forty or with hardening of the arteries developed beyond what was usual for his age might successfully substitute the condition of his arteries as the cause for all misconduct naturally attributable to alcohol.

But aside from the Duncan case the effect of age upon the brain structure and the consequences when physical changes in the brain become effective are accountable for many strange acts, oftentimes a complete reversion of form, conduct, outlook for morals, by those who have a consistently excellent record before age gripped them with its eternal hold.

The peril to others from these conditions is the important thing. The harm to the person affected while important is but the unavoidable clutching of the hand of fate. The fact that some men may live to ninety or more without revealing any harmful effects of this aging process upon their mentality should not interfere with the forced retirement from critical positions at a fixed age particularly when that age has passed three score years and ten and simply because beyond that age such a high percentage feel the effect of the corroding influences of time that chances should not be risked.

The books are full of cases like that of the banker Harriman at New York, a man of particular attention to his word of honor and extreme obedience to every demand of the law until age came along and made him without necessity or other compulsion just an ordinary thief and swindler and the destroyer of an otherwise sound and magnificent institution. It is a fair conclusion that at 40 or 50 or 60 Mr. Harriman would have spurned the idea of doing the things he did as he approached 75.

It may not be known with the precision of measurement that the aging of arteries and the lessened supply of blood to the brain cause the delinquencies so common in the aged but it seems like a rather rational conclusion.

At Mr. Duncan's age it is unusual to have the aging process so far advanced yet it happens not infrequently. Although most men who get apoplexy are sixty or beyond many such cases are to be found in the fifties and some in the forties.

The most distracting thing about mankind continues to be that no two men are ever the same in any particular.

THE SUN AND OUR POLITICS

In looking around for any sort of an alibi or scapegoat it would be rank folly for our rulers to overlook the sun as a possible cause for the prevailing depression.

The sun has taken a lot of blame down through the centuries from fortune tellers, bewitchers, cloven-hoofed devils and politicians of a sort. But that it has altered its course on account of anything happening on this earth is quite unbelievable.

Directors of our observatories have been taking pictures of the sun. And they have found sufficient astonishing and unexpected developments to cause any depression. These pictures reveal startling celestial fireworks. They show flaming hydrogen atoms shooting up in space to a height thousands of miles above the surface of Old Sol. To be specific the solar film revealed that upon the 17th day of September, 1937, while everyone on earth was sleeping soundly, parading in an army or going to a football game, a terrific explosion took place on the sun during which part of its atmosphere, extensive enough to envelop several earths, was lifted to a height 600,000 miles above its surface, whereas upon the 20th of March, 1938, another explosion reached a height of 900,000 miles.

Undoubtedly in due time and as the election draws nigh, supporters of the administration will make use of these wondrous and terrifying phenomena. Since those in office never did a wrong and never even made an error it is somewhat incumbent upon us to find the cause of the wretchedness that dogs the people's steps.

It looks as though the sun were a good bet.

GREAT WORK, WISCONSIN—SO FAR

While it is pleasant to know that fatal accidents for the first four months of 1938 are some 35 per cent below the 1937 level in Wisconsin, the news probably does not yet warrant congratulating ourselves.

Actually, it bears out one theory: we have proved such a reduction to be possible. Having proved this much, we must further prove it to be neither a coincidence nor a temporary exhibition of good driving behavior.

Milwaukee, of course, is automatically excused from probation since, with the best record for cities of its size in the country, it has already shown how accidents can be kept down.

A cynic might remind us that less than half of 1938 is out of the way and, with most of the months of heavy driving still ahead, we have by no means guaranteed to be good drivers for the rest of the year. The cynic might also report that pleasant weather has been slow to get under way this year, thus cutting down on motor travel and obviously reduced the opportunities for accident. He might even add that conditions — planned for us a few years ago by Mr. Roosevelt—may also have reduced the number of car-miles rolled up this year.

Weather and Mr. Roosevelt notwithstanding, however, it is apparent that seeds of common sense sown by safety organizations, police departments, educational and civic groups, and newspapers, have not fallen on barren ground. The trick now is to make sure the crop is not blighted before harvest time.

The reduction of 35 per cent in accidental deaths in Wisconsin is not a goal. It is a guidepost along the road to a vital destination.

AA! THESE FRENCHMEN

In France a playwright or a director must not only be an artist at his trade but a pretty fair swordsman to boot.

Take the recent case of Henry Bernstein and Edouard Bourdet. Bourdet is administrator of the French national theater and Bernstein is a famous dramatist. Bernstein wrote one play called "Judith" which Bourdet produced. Bernstein didn't like the way Bourdet produced it, and even hinted that the latter was attempting to ruin his reputation as a dramatist by presenting the play without adequate rehearsals.

The two men exchanged angry letters and angry words, but in France you cannot call a man a liar without first sharpening up your sword.

The duel was formally arranged, and a slight hitch in the proceedings developed when the men's seconds couldn't get them out of bed at sunrise for the sword play and the match had to be postponed until noon.

Bernstein is a famous duelist, having fought eight times in the last two years, something comparable to a Joe Louis or a Henry Armstrong. Bourdet never fought before.

Americans not versed in French affairs of honor probably thought this would be as good a solution as any to the quarrel, that one would be killed and the course of French drama directed one way or the other. That was always the way with good old American duels, if the movies may be believed.

But the next day it was reported from Paris that after four whole minutes of furious fighting the physician in charge noticed a patch of blood on Bourdet's arm, and called the whole thing off.

Now the thing to do after one draws blood in a duel of this nature is for the duellists to kiss and make up, but not so with the fighting fiends, Bernstein and Bourdet.

They left the field unreconciled, and, like good modern-day Americans, may be expected to carry on the battle once again with the pen instead of the sword.

FIRST AID SUGGESTIONS

Accidents will happen! The too frequent sights incident to motoring are the smashed automobile by the roadside; the milling crowd asking questions and getting in one another's way; the injured pinned beneath the wreck or stretched on the ground. Often there is no skilled person in the crowd. Too often there is the officious person who will do the wrong thing.

Recently in the Health and Hygiene Column of the News, advice was offered for such emergencies. Mostly this was a warning against doing too much.

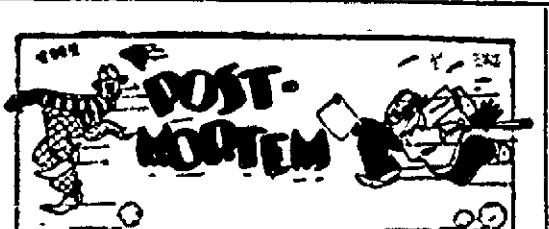

First, try to get expert help, an ambulance, a physician. This usually can be arranged through notifying the police.

Do not bundle an injured person into an automobile and head for a hospital. The splintered parts of broken bones may do irreparable damage through rough handling.

Unless you are a surgeon, do not try to reduce a fracture.

Do nothing hastily unless an extreme emergency is apparent. "Little additional harm will accrue to the patient who is taken to a protected spot, covered with a blanket to prevent shock and exposure and allowed to await the doctor."—Detroit News.

IT IS BROUGHT to our attention that Benny Goodman has recorded some of Mozart's stuff with his clarinet and some musicians from Budapest. . . I have not heard the record, but the critics aren't too wild about it. . . supposedly Benny plays his note stiffly, though correctly. . . the reason for bringing this matter to your attention may not be readily apparent, but it is a very good reason. . . I am a little afraid when some people find out that Goodman played Mozart with some musicians from Budapest, there is going to be a lot of low muttering about Benny being a traitor. . .

Dunno why this should remind me of it, but Bing Crosby's program Thursday night without Bob Burns was simply too, too foo.

A Verse for Today

By Anne Campbell

DAY BY DAY

We will take every day, and one by one
Make our own tower of ivory and gold.
How it will sparkle in the setting sun,
Revealing every joy, when we grow old!

The difficulties conquered, and the sorrow
That we endured with faith will have such luster,
We will be glad upon that far tomorrow
Our spirits had such valiant troops to muster!

We will take every day without complaint,
Cherishing gloom as well as happiness.
Knowing that God will bolster souls that faint,

Ernst Mahler, general superintendent of the Kimberly-Clark corporation, had received a patent on an appliance to be placed on sanitary pad machines of the cellulose division of the company.

Four county officials announced Friday they would be candidates for reelection. They are Sydney M. Shannon, clerk of courts; A. G. Koch, register of deeds; Miss Marie Ziegenhagen, county treasurer and John E. Hantschel, county clerk.

Leonard F. Cline was elected president of the New London Lions club at a recent meeting. E. L. Reuter was named first vice president; F. A. Archibald, second vice president; Harold Daike, third vice president; L. M. Wright, secretary-treasurer; Dr. George Polzin, tall twister; James Mulhoney, lion tamer; the Rev. V. W. Bell, M. C. Trayser and Dr. A. C. Borchard, directors.

"The Woman Who Made Good" was the title of a story written by Miss Edna Ferber which was to appear in the Saturday Evening Post, beginning June 14.

Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Freese of Chicago arrived in Appleton to spend the summer. Mr. Freese was to superintend the construction work on the new filtration plant.

Indications were that something definite would be done in the chief of police appointment next Thursday. The fire and police commission and the city council held a joint session the previous day in relation to the recommendation of the commission concerning salaries.

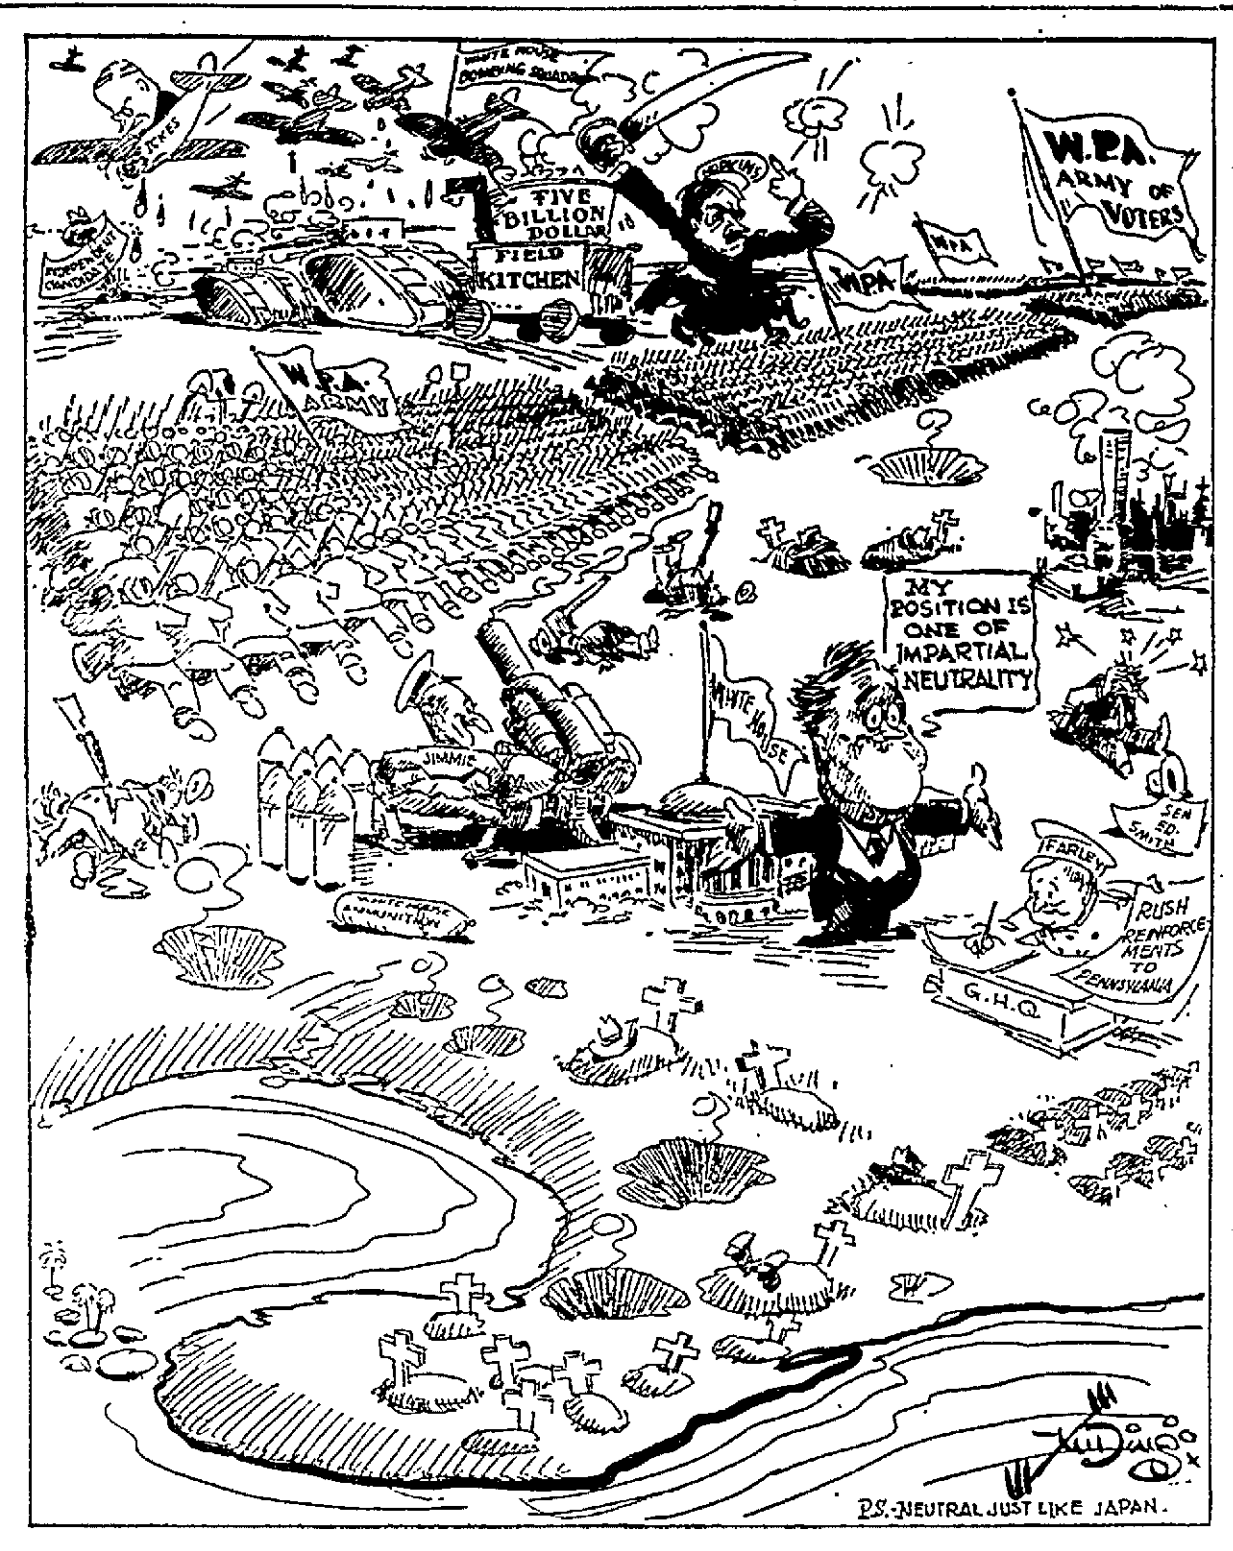

Fire that morning destroyed one wing of the Wausau county insane asylum at Wausau, causing a loss estimated at $10,000. None of the inmates was injured.

SOUND DIGESTION

The other day we told how sour milk, buttermilk, curdled milk, clabbered milk, fermented milk, Bulgarian cultured milk, acidophilus milk, or just plain milk, helps to maintain a normal condition in the colon. Briefly, it is because milk fresh or sour is the natural carrier of lactic bacilli which are the natural fermenters of starch and sugars, the fermentation changing starch or sugar into carbon dioxide (carbonic acid gas), water, lactic acid etc.

It is not to be forgotten that fermentation of starch, dextrin, dextrose, glucose, levulose (fruit sugar), maltose, lactose (milk sugar), sucrose (cane or beet sugar) is a normal process in the intestine and that the normal products of fermentation include lactic acid and carbonic acid gas. Hence the presence of more or less gas is not to be regarded as a symptom of any "indigestion." The gases produced by fermentation serve to stimulate and mechanically aid other processes of digestion.

It is fairly well known that a moderately acid state in the colon is concomitant to health. The essential purpose of buttermilk, sour milk, fermented or cultured milk in the diet is to maintain vigorous growth of the lactic acid bacilli naturally present in milk or soured milk in the colon; the acid produced when lactic bacilli act upon starch or sugars in the fermentation process discourages or prevents active growth and activity of colon bacillus and other potential producers of disease.

This wholesome culture of lactic bacilli in the intestine is, in my opinion, virtually as well maintained by drinking plain fresh sweet milk or plain skimmed milk as it is by drinking buttermilk, sour milk, Bulgarian milk or Acidophilus milk, if one prefers plain fresh milk or plain skim milk.

When a healthy person who gets a reasonable amount of muscular exercise daily eats cooked starchy food or sugars in any form, most if not all of the food is digested and absorbed before the residue reaches the colon. So unless milk or some milk product constitutes a part of the daily diet, constantly replenishing the lactic bacilli growth in the colon, the putrefactive activities in the colon may gain the ascendancy and create an environment favorable for disease. For this reason it is a good health habit, in my opinion, to eat some RAW starchy food daily. Raw starch takes longer to digest than cooked starch (cooking partly converts starch into more soluble dextrin, loaf or browned crust, browned potato, etc.) and some of it is more likely to reach the colon unchanged. Good ways to do this are by chewing some plain wheat, eating raw potato or other raw vegetable, even eating plain raw corn starch or laundry starch (not the gloss starch). Chewing plain wheat is the practice I recommend.

Your Birthday

"GEMINI"

If June 5 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10:45 a. m. to 12:45 p. m.; from 2:45 to 4:45 p. m., and from 7:45 to 9:45 p. m. The danger periods are from 8:45 to 10:45 a. m. from 5:45 to 7:45 p. m., and from 9:45 to 11:45 p. m.

Sympathy will be the medium through which a better understanding of individual peculiarities will be gained this day. It will be advisable not to comment on any kindness you do. The average person is apt to be resentful if made to feel that he is being placed under obligation. There might be a tendency, on the part of friends and relatives, to misinterpret some of your statements. State facts so plainly that there will be no possibility of their not being understood. In disputes, charges are likely to lead to counter-charges, so avoid arguments. You will make a mistake, most likely, if you refuse to participate in any social activity where your presence is requested. It might pay to try to adjust your time so it will fit in conveniently with that of other people's this day. Married and engaged couples, and those seriously considering the advantages that matrimony has to offer, should keep in mind that "Quarrels would not last long if the fault was only on one side."

If a woman and June 5 is your birthday, you may be slow to anger, but when aroused probably have a violent temper, which you must learn to control. Many people may not suspect that you are very emotional, and in some way, perhaps, decidedly temperamental. You apparently have very simple, but extremely good taste. You ought to have a good memory for faces and names. You should be fond of reading, for the cultural influence of good books, apparently will play an important part in your life. Through educational, theatrical, missionary, literary or some line of artistic work your progress along the road of success and prosperity may be rapid. It would seem that married life is the ideal one for you.

The child born on June 5 probably has a love for excitement that should not be encouraged too much. A retentive memory ought to make this youngster a good student, providing it understands the impatience of giving the proper amount of time

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Why Bathe to Itch?

After bathing I suffer intensely from itching which sometimes continues all day or all night (H.G.R.)

Don't bathe in water. If you must bathe in water, use only tepid or cool water. Don't use soap. Use only some bland oil to cleanse the skin. After bathing always apply either a few drops of Skin Oil or a few drops of Dew of Sahara to the skin here and there—to restore the natural skin oil, sebum, removed by hot water and soap. Instructions for preparing these and other balm are given in 80-page booklet "Save Your Skin" — copy of which will be mailed if you ask

A Bystander In Washington

BY PRESTON GROVER

Washington—So awesome is the picture of 16 super-power radio stations dominating the air that the federal communications commission has shunted aside any immediate solution of the problem and may meet it by indirection.

Weeks ago 16 radio stations asked to go on the air with 500,000 watts power, 10 times as powerful as the largest commercial station now in operation — although WLW at Cincinnati has hit that high level experimentally for some time.

Almost at once there were backstage repercussions on Capitol Hill among those members of Congress who think federal action upon them is the ultimate solution of the radio problem. Needless to say the number of members advocating such control is not large, but one told us privately that he would begin plugging for government ownership if super-power permits were granted.

Hearing At Hand

The 16 requests for super-power are still pending before the commission, but an agreement was brought about to postpone action upon them until the commission could hear from all other operators as well as public agencies interested in radio operation.

That hearing, ordered to begin June 6, looks good to last at least 10 days. While the 16 requests for super-power are not directly involved in the hearing, the commission left itself an opening by which it could handle them without acting directly on each application.

Among the subjects for discussion at the hearing is the regulation which at present fixes 50,000 watts as the largest allowable commercial station power. One source pointed out that the commission might vote to retain the 50,000 watt limit, and so indirectly liquidate all the super-power applications except two requesting operation on an experimental basis. These are WLW at Cincinnati and WHO at Des Moines, which as yet has no license at all.

Sizing It Up

A three-phase problem faces the commission. It is:

1. Engineering — Super-power stations raise international difficulties by crashing into wave bands used by foreign stations, especially in Canada and Mexico. Small stations in the United States complain that big stations "blanket them out."
2. Economic — If the commission should grant a few super-power licenses, would these stations gobble up all the advertising, thus choking out the smaller stations sufficiently to result in monopoly?
3. Social and political — Should one owner be given control of such a "voice" as is represented in the potential nationwide spread of a 500,000 watt super-power station? Accusations that the commission already is permitting an approach to monopoly in sanctioning chain systems such as National Broadcasting Company, Mutual and Columbia have raised tender spots on the commission skin.

But an argument is advanced from the other side that radio engineering has advanced far enough to justify super-power systems, and that the social and political commission wipe out any station at the flimsy abuse—well, can't the command of six months by refusing to renew its license?

William Steede Rites Are Held at Shiocton

Shiocton — Funeral services for William Steede, 61, whose death occurred at his home Sunday afternoon, were conducted from the Congregational church at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon by the Rev. F. Black. Services at the grave were in charge of the members of the local Odd Fellows lodge of which the deceased was a member. Burial was made at the Bovina cemetery.

Bearers were the following Odd Fellows: Barb Allender, George Jones, F. O. Town, George Kaufman, R. D. Fischer and Cash Twitwell.

Mr. Steede, the son of Garrison and Rebecca Rugg-Steede was born near Dixon, Ill., May 27, 1877. As a child he came with his parents to Menominee, Mich., where he grew to manhood. He came to Shiocton about forty years ago. He was a skilled worker in the building trade, a stone mason and brick-layer.

He was married in Shiocton July 4, 1899, to Miss Olive Netz. About two years ago Mr. Steede developed a heart ailment and later was obliged to give up his work. For more than a year he had been an invalid. Last Sunday he suffered a severe attack and died at 4:30 in the afternoon two days after his sixty-first birthday.

Survivors are the widow, one daughter Mrs. Frank Connell, Milwaukee; two sons, Garrison, New London, and Desmond, Shiocton, and nine grandchildren; three brothers, Bert of Gwinn, Mich., Victor, Marinette, and Myron, Negaunee, Mich.

OCTAGON HOUSE

BY PHOEBE ATWOOD TAYLOR

THE STORY SO FAR: Asey May, Cape Cod detective, is privately investigating the murder of Marina Lorne, whose husband's post office mural has aroused Quannamet. She was killed by a left handed blow from her sister's knife. Suspected Pam Frye disappears because an unknown person who smokes Turkish tobacco is trailing her. Her disorderly life, with accounts of $50,000 worth of ambergris, she found. Agreeable Tim Carr, a boarder at the Frye's Octagon House, is left handed, smokes Turkish tobacco, and hated Marina. Gaby Nettie Hobbs swears Pam is the murderer and is called a liar by Peggy Boone, an artist. Roddy Struth, whose plane crashed in the ocean, pays her $500 to keep his name out of her story. The hospital Asey finds Roddy's pilot is still unconscious. However, he sees Jennings, a plumber, who is furious at being caricatured in the mural.

If Roddy left at six-thirty, and had not returned until the crash late that night, hours after the murder, why was he paying that hush money to Nettie Hobbs?

And how in the name of common sense could Roddy had landed that plane in the square, anyway, without causing more damage? Roddy was just learning to fly. He had no controls of a plane until the day before. And the descriptions of his first flight were nerve shattering.

But if Roddy Struth wanted to advertise his homecoming, and to set the time in everyone's mind, he had picked the right place. Everyone Asey had talked with knew of the crash in the square.

It had been a fine moonlight night, there were cars on the square, and possibly some had headlights on. There was an

Chapter 18
THE RING CIRCUS

It was the middle of the afternoon before Ascy set about the tedious task of coaxing Syl's truck back to Wellfleet. That excursion to Rolly Strutt's house after he left Jennings and the hospital had turned out to be a complete bust.

The Strutt place was surrounded by a tall, iron spiked fence, and the driveway gates were locked. A Filipino with a squint had ordered him off the entrance, and another Filipino with cauliflower ears had chased him away from the wharf. Both men belonged to the general classification of undesirable companions for dark nights in narrow alleys. Even in broad daylight they were slightly repulsive.

so, it would have taken a far better pilot than Roddy to bring that plane down there without more of a mess. And would Roddy have thought to turn off his engines?

The more he thought about it, the more apparent it became to Ascy that Brigham, and not Roddy had brought the plane down, no matter what Roddy said. Brigham must have brought the plane down. And probably with Roddy standing over him, brandishing a monkey wrench. And probably Roddy had returned hours before to Quanoct, a part of a brain wave of Roddy's a alibi himself. The pilot, Brigham, would clear that up.

That Stuff

At home, Ascy was greeted by Jennie. Maria, and

A dogged series of questionings in the neighborhood of the Struth house had netted him almost nothing. He learned that Roddy's plane was an amphibian, which he hadn't guessed from the wreckage, and he learned that Roddy had spent practically the entire previous day buzzing around in his new toy. By noon-time the people almost ceased to pay any attention to its comings and goings, other than to hope as they heard it pass overhead, that if Roddy was going to crash it in his characteristic fashion, he would crash out to sea.

One man said very definitely that Roddy's plane had left at six-thirty with the plane that was going to New York. He was sure about the time, because the noise of the two planes setting off had interrupted his favorite radio program. And everyone was positive that Roddy was returning from that jaunt when he crashed.

Ascy cased the truck around a reverse curve.

Jennie Mayo and Dr. Cummings, both of whom talked loudly and steadily in unison on widely separated subjects. Ascy sorted out the information.

A delegation of Quonamets' leading citizens had called on him to request his aid in their misfortunes, they put it in the plural, apparently feeling that the murder was not their only problem.

"What you got to report, Doc, from Octagon House?"

"I figured that Hanson was still hunting for the police had found no fingerprints, or the knife, or anywhere else. The crowd was still bothersome."

"You don't mean," Ascy said, "that Hanson is still after her?"

"He's a peculiarly one-track minded soul. Ascy, more than anything, I wish you'd insert yourself into Octagon House and find—"

"That stuff," Ascy said swiftly, before the doctor could present any information. He trusted Jennie im-

Weekly Contests, Inland Lakes Regatta on Summer Program for Boat Owners

Neenah—Neenah yachtmen face a full and varied program this summer with weekly sailboat races, the Inland Lakes Yachting association regatta, the interseasonal sailboat races and extended cruises, plans for which were made at a meeting of the Neenah Yacht club last night at the clubhouse, as part of the activities.

Plans for one of the largest Inland Lakes Yachting association regattas are being completed with the fastest boats piloted by top flight skippers from yacht clubs throughout the Midwest sailing the local club's Lake Winnebago course. The regatta will be Aug. 14, 15 and 19.

Commodore James H. Kimberly reported at the meeting that the regatta would cost between $1,500 and $2,000 which will have to be raised by the finance committee. The committee is composed of Ernst Mahler, chairman, Maury Smith and D. C. Shepard. The club will apply to the United States Coast guard for two patrol boats during the regatta. So far, it was reported, 70 lodging places have been obtained for the visiting skippers.

Trailer Camp
A trailer camp will be erected in Riverside park and a watchman will be provided to guard equipment and electric lights will be installed. S. F. Shattuck is chairman of the accommodations committee and he is assisted by Robert DeWilde and Ruby Hart.

William Kelleff is chairman of the regatta committee, while members of the committee in charge of the Inland Lakes races are Rudolph Lotz, E. H. Haskin, Leo Shubert, Kim Stuart, Don Rusch, Lyall Stilt and Irving Stilt.

The interseasonal races between Barnegat Bay skippers and the top flight skippers from the Midwest also will be held here this summer, Aug. 10, 11 and 12.

Map Season Schedule
Plans made for the regular racing season were announced at the meeting. The season will be divided into three series, pre-season, championship and post-season. The pre-season series started May 30 and will conclude June 19 with races being held June 4, 5, 11, 12 and 18. The championship series will start June 25 and conclude Aug. 7 and include 15 races, while the post-season series will start Aug. 20 and end Sept. 5 and include seven races.

Keith Martiny, chairman of the local racing season, gave the report. Members of the committee are John Graef, Jack Hewitt, Jr., A. C. Gilbert and Joseph Post.

It was pointed out that the first trophy each day will start promptly at 2 o'clock and that no boat will be allowed to compete after the races are underway. Races in the various classes will be run off as follows: A class, B and C classes, X-Boats, Nationals, Cubs, and open.

During the season each owner of a motorboat will be assigned to patrol the course for one weekend of racing.

Trophies To Be Shown
Arthur Croxon reported that the season's trophies will be displayed next week in Hart's Jewelry store. Special trophies will be awarded the winners in all classes in the pre-season and post-season series and for the special races on July 4 and Labor day.

Besides the regular Saturday and Sunday afternoon races, there will be special races on the Fourth of July and Labor day. The club also plans to hold a race to Garlic island and cruises along the east shore of Lake Winnebago. Plans also are being made for a novelty moonlight race.

It was reported that the club has scheduled three parties, the first to be July 26, the second July 19, and the third, Sept. 7. The presentation dinner also will be Sept. 7.

Neenah Merchants Top Menasha, 4 to 1

Submit Plans for WPA Landscaping Project at School

Grading, Improvement of Grounds Expected to Start Within Week

Menasha—Plans for the grading and improvement of the Menasha high school grounds were submitted by the city engineer's office to the WPA office at Green Bay today for final approval. The work will be included in the general parks and playground WPA project. Work is expected to start within the next week.

The project includes grading and construction of 168,000 square feet of ground, the removal of 1,200 cubic yards of dirt and the spreading of 600 cubic yards of blast earth over the top of the grounds.

Also included in the project are construction of 6,874 square feet of four inch sidewalk and laying of 100 cubic yards of stone. The stone will be used to form a driveway from Milwaukee street to the court formed by the vocational and academic wings of the building. The entire court, which is used for loading and unloading of supplies, also will be covered with stone.

Concrete sidewalks will be constructed from the main entrance to Seventh street and also from the front of the building to the gymnasium to the main entrance and will be continued to the auditorium entrance.

One walk will be constructed from Milwaukee street to the vocational wing. Another walk will parallel the vocational wing so entrance may be made at either the north or south part of that section. Construction of curb and gutter along the north side of Seventh street in front of the school has been completed and the WPA workmen have started construction of the curb and gutter on the south side of the street.

Menasha Society

Menasha—Five members of the Twin City Betty Rebekahs will leave Monday for Sturgeon Bay to attend the three day session of the state Rebekah assembly Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. Miss Elizabeth Stewart will be the official delegate from the Rebekahs and other lodge members who will go to the conference include Mrs. G. E. Floyd and Mrs. George Johnson of Menasha and Mrs. Charles Richardson and Mrs. Perry Larson of Neenah. William Stewart of Menasha also will make the trip to Sturgeon Bay.

Wohelo Camp Fire Girls will meet at 7 o'clock Monday evening in First Congregational church club rooms.

Mrs. Albert Landers, 351 Second street, will entertain at a supper party Saturday evening in honor of her husband who is observing his birthday anniversary today.

Miss Ruth Stilt's name was drawn as the delegate which the Women's Catholic Order of Foresters, St. Patrick's court, will send to the Neenah-Menasha girls' camp sponsored by the Twin City Y. W. C. A. at Camp Hiwella near Saxeville beginning June 11. Miss Stilt has accepted the honor. Officers of the court met Thursday evening to select the name of the girl for the camp. Names of juvenile members and daughters of adult members were used in the drawing.

A regular business meeting of the Menasha Women's Benefit association will be held Monday evening in the Knights of Columbus hall. Games will be played at 7:30 and cards will be played after the meeting. Luncheon will be served.

Mrs. A. E. Mc Mahon and Mrs. Frank Meyer are in the charge of the card party which the ladies of St. Patrick's parish will sponsor Monday afternoon and evening in the school hall.

Miss Evelyn Russell, who is to be married soon to Robert Resch, was guest of honor at a miscellaneous shower at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Russell, 744 Broad street, Thursday evening when Helen Conway and Adella Russell entertained for her. Bridge honors went to Letha Fahrenkrug, Emily Fitzgibbon, Alma Auger and Helen Fitzgibbon. The bride-to-be was given gifts.

150 Attend Farewell Supper for Minister

Neenah—About 150 persons attended the farewell supper and program held by the congregation of Our Saviour's Lutheran church for the Rev. and Mrs. Alfred Jensen who are leaving this week for Laurentz, N. Y., where the Rev. Mr. Jensen has accepted a call to that church. Ed Nielsen, president of the congregation, was toastmaster. The senior choir sang two selections, Mrs. Ethel Nielsen sang a solo, and the Rev. and Mrs. Jensen spoke briefly.

The Rev. C. Peterson, Oshkosh, was special speaker at the program. Heads of all organizations and other members of the congregation were called upon to speak briefly.

Coroner's Jury Finds Allen Died Of Crash Injuries

Holds Accident Due to Reckless Driving of Neenah Man

Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau Oshkosh—The death of D. K. Allen, Oshkosh attorney prominent in state Republican circles, resulted from injuries received in a head-on collision caused by the reckless driving of Otto H. Porath, 220 N. Lake street, Neenah, according to a verdict of a coroner's jury following an inquest at the courthouse yesterday afternoon.

A fatal accident occurred Sunday, May 15, on Highway 41 north of Oshkosh, and Allen died Sunday, May 29, at Mercy hospital here. Porath pleaded guilty of reckless driving the day after the accident and was fined $100 and costs by Judge S. J. Luchsinger in municipal court.

The jury instructed the district attorney to take steps to determine the mental capacity and efficiency of Porath. Porath's actions on the stand and testimony submitted warrants this decision, the verdict read.

Girl Sees Crash
Viggo Sorensen, Oshkosh, assistant chief of police, stated Allen had passed him shortly before the crash at an estimated speed of 35 miles an hour. He said he did not see the accident but his daughter, riding with him in the front seat of the car, witnessed the collision and screamed when it happened.

Ellen Sorensen, 14-year-old daughter of the Neenah policeman, said she "saw the other car coming toward Mr. Allen's car, approaching over a hill about 60 miles an hour. The car heading our way swerved over to our side of the road trying to pass another car and Mr. Allen's car swerved to the right but they both hit and the Allen car flew into the air and then landed on its left side. When he arrived at the scene of the accident, Porath never offered aid and didn't come near Mr. Allen."

Julius Holst, Winnebago county patrolman, stated he found a liquor bottle on Porath and was under the impression Porath was intoxicated and immediately took him to the Winnebago county jail.

Joe Williams, Neenah, occupant of the Porath machine, said he told Porath not to try to pass a third car when he saw the Allen car approaching but Porath said "I am going to pass anyway."

Quoted by the district attorney, Lewis C. Magnusen, Porath was vague and uncertain in his statements. He said he thought he could have passed the third car. Dr. W. A. Wagner and Dr. C. J. Combs, Oshkosh physicians who attended Allen, both testified he died of injuries suffered in the accident. The jury reached its verdict in 25 minutes.

Three Scouts Earn Higher Rankings

First Congregational Church Troop to Visit State Game Farm

Menasha—Three scouts of troop No. 14, sponsored by the First Congregational church, earned advancement at a court of review held at a scout camp at the church Friday night. Robert Baenke, his second class, Lewis and two boys earned tenderfoot rankings. They were Duane Gear and Buddy Geibel. An outdoor court of honor will be held next Saturday night at Camp Chicago.

James Roosevelt Comes to Support of Wearin as Iowa Democratic Race Nears End

Des Moines, Iowa—(AP)—“My friends,” pet phrase of the Roosevelt family, today had become a factor in its singular form in the Iowa Democratic senatorial primary.

James Roosevelt, son and secretary of the president, late yesterday placed another piece on the Iowa political chess board in a telegram containing the words “My friend, Otha Wearin.”

Wearin, a congressman claiming White House support in his aspirations, is opposing Senator Guy M. Gillette for the Iowa Democratic senatorial nomination. Gillette was paired against the president's supreme court reform bill. Democratic voters will select the party nominee from among Wearin, Gillette and three other candidates Monday.

Roosevelt's telegram, the first publicly active recognition of the Iowa primary from the first family of the land, informed Federal District Attorney Ed Dunn of Mason City that he had not made and then cancelled plans to campaign in Iowa for Wearin. Roosevelt termed the reports “deliberate misrepresentation intended to injure my friend Wearin.”

Wearin Forces Jubilant
Wearin forces were jubilant over the telegram as evidence of the blessing of the White House for their candidate. Gillette, however, saw in the telegram “assurances” that the president is strictly neutral in the primary.

Dunn said the telegram from James Roosevelt read:

“Dear Ed:
“I am informed that a story is being circulated that I cancelled a trip I proposed to make to Iowa in behalf of the candidacy of Otha Wearin during my recent visit to the Mayo clinic at Rochester, Minn. This is a deliberate misrepresentation intended to injure my friend Otha Wearin.”

“I had no such plans to come to Iowa because my doctors would not have permitted them.”

Criticized Hopkins
“If I had such plans, you may be sure I would have kept them.”
“You have my full authority to use this statement.”

Meanwhile the cleavage over the senatorial conflict, with its conflicting claims of New Deal support, penetrated more deeply into Iowa Democratic ranks.

Governor Nelson G. Kraschel, who criticized WPA Chief Harry L. Hopkins for “meddling” in the Iowa primary, dropped his technical neutrality and came out for Gillette.

The governor in a radio speech last night said he several months ago found that “Senator Gillette's return to the senate would be agreeable to the National Democratic organization and administration.” He criticized what he termed Wearin's “carefully planned and cunning campaign intended to convince Iowa that the national administration preferred his nomination and challenged the congressman to prove that he has the backing of Postmaster General Farley and Secretary Wallace.

BOARD TO MEET
Neenah—The board of vocational and adult education will hold its regular meeting Tuesday evening at the Neenah High school.

Today's Radio Highlights

Bernardino Molinari, director of the Augusteo concert in Rome, will conduct the first of three successive programs to be heard under his baton at 7 o'clock over WMAQ.

Another important event in the radio world is the “carefully planned and cunning campaign” intended to convince Iowa that the national administration preferred his nomination and challenged the congressman to prove that he has the backing of Postmaster General Farley and Secretary Wallace.

The Republican contest for the senatorial nomination between Congressman Lloyd Thurston and former Senator J. J. Dickinson neared its end without having developed into anything like the fight being waged by the Democrats.

Issue 88 Marriage Licenses During May

June, the most popular month for weddings, caused an upswing in the number of marriage applications made at the office of John E. Hantschel, Outagamie county clerk, last month. A total of 88 applications was made, the largest number for any May during the last 15 years. Seventy-four applications were made during May of 1937. A total of 186 licenses has been issued up to June 1 of this year.

Plans are Being Rounded Out for Fair at Seymour

Annual Event to be Held From Aug. 5 to 7; Large Premiums Offered

Seymour—The 1938 Seymour fair will be held Friday, Saturday, and Sunday, Aug. 5, 6 and 7. Premium books are now being printed. The premiums to be awarded have been changed considerably for this year, with larger prizes in many departments.

The program of free attractions already booked, includes the Ernie Young night revue for Saturday and Sunday, entirely new to Seymour. Other bookings include eight separate acts for afternoon and evening, besides the usual good harness races. The horse pulling contest will be on Saturday morning.

The program for Friday has not yet been booked but several companies are being considered.

Mrs. Genevieve Trace will present her piano students in a recital of solos, duets, and trios at the Seymour school auditorium at 8 o'clock Wednesday evening. The following will take part: Betty Schmidt, Ruth Kuehne Orellette Berry, Jane Kahn, Virginia Lotter, Marie Frisbie, Neve Wittmann, Ardis Ann Attee, Nancy Ann Hittner, Donald Frank, Burton Wiese, Aileen Morey, Allen Morey, Janice Wickesberg, Mary Ann Hein, James Wiese, Billy Schmidt, Betty Pfestadt, Dorothy Bernhardt, Lois Mueller, Arlene Schlack, Virgie Bunkelman, Betty Otto, Audrey Ahlm, Opal Ahlm, Geraldine Lorenz, Alta Gosse, Marie Melchert, June Otto, Robert Knox, Lois Mae Brusewitz, Dora Melchert, Louise Wolk, Mildred Jenkins, Pauline Thornberry, Marie Barth, Mary Ann Trace.

The Seymour city schools closed on Friday. The school year closed with a picnic at North Beach, Shawano lake, on Thursday for the four upper grades and on Friday for the high school students. The four lower grades also held their picnic at the fair grounds on Thursday.

The regular meeting of the Ladies Aid society of the Methodist church will be held next Tuesday afternoon, June 7. Supper will be served by Circle No. 2.

RUBBISH WEDNESDAY
Menasha—Rubbish will be collected in the fourth district of the city Wednesday, according to H. O. Haugh, city health officer. The fourth district includes Sixth street and the area north to the city limits.

Valley and State League Teams to Play Home Games

Menasha to Appear Sunday Morning, Clintonville In Afternoon

Kaukauna—Kaukauna baseball fans will have an opportunity to get their fill of the sport here tomorrow when two games are scheduled, the Valley leaguers playing Menasha in a 10 o'clock morning tilt, and the Northern State league entry gunning for their second straight victory in the afternoon against Clintonville.

It'll be either Ray Diedrick, star Kaw twirler with two wins to his credit so far, or Harold Giesbers against the Menasha Falcons. Manager Wally Kilgas said yesterday. The Falcons, although they have won only one game, have scored 32 runs in three games, packing a lot of power at the plate.

The Clintonville Trucks will come here in the afternoon for their first league match with the Kaws. Last year the Kaws went 11 innings in edging them out at the local park, but split the two game series when they dropped a game at Clintonville.

Die Weigand, who dropped his last trip to Green Bay when his mates failed to hit, is Manager Howard Bowers' probable choice for starting duties. Al Bowers, who received credit for the Kaws' first victory when he defeated Two Rivers last Monday, 2 to 1, will be on hand for relief duty.

Batting averages released yesterday by Kilgas show that Gib Busse, who bats in the cleanup spot, is pacing his Valley leaguers with nine hits in 17 trips to the plate for a .529 average. Omaha Cast, former leader, made only one safe blow in the last two games, and dropped from .625 to .333.

Students Entertain Mothers at Style Show

Kaukauna—Girls of the domestic science classes of Kaukauna High school entertained their mothers yesterday afternoon at a tea and style show, with girls exhibiting the dresses they had made themselves.

Miss Ann Gibbons and Miss Phyllis Krueger, domestic science teachers, were in charge.

58 St. Mary Students Are Given Diplomas

Kaukauna—Diplomas were received by 58 graduates of St. Mary's school at graduation exercises yesterday morning at St. Mary's church. The Rev. Alphonse Roder, pastor, distributed the diplomas with the Rev. John Haen, assistant pastor, addressing the class.

Student Is Named to City Athletic Council

Kaukauna—Elmer Vandenberg, Kaukauna High school junior, has been named to represent the high school on the city athletic council. Vandenberg succeeds Leland Lambie, who graduates this year.

SUNDAY'S GAMES
Green Bay at Manitowoc.
Clintonville at Kaukauna.
Two Rivers at New London.
Kimberly at Seymour.

NEW LONDON baseball team, battling to remain in second place in the Northern State league, Kaukauna, battling to remain out of the cellar, and Seymour, reposing in the basement with Kimberly, will be the home teams tomorrow when the loop takes its weekly exercise.

After dropping two games in a row, the Mellow Brews of Kaukauna finally got into the win column last week with a 2 to 1 victory over Two Rivers. The good hit arm of Al Bauer accounted for the win.

But tomorrow's opponent will be another club, Clintonville Trucks, who have won two and lost two to date. It will be the first league meeting of the teams but the rivalry will be keen because the Kaws took a pair of victories from the Trucks last year in non-league tilts.

Tomlin to Start
Tommy Tomlin, big right hander for the Trucks, is slated to take the mound against Kaukauna. He turned back Kimberly last week and doesn't expect any more trouble with the Kaws. If he does run into stormy weather the nod will go to Huffman.

This week Manager Len Goerlinger has had his team at intensive batting practice hoping some of the averages can be raised. Matt Wagner, newcomer and formerly of Bond-duel, is leading the list with an average of .833, with five hits in six games at bat. Following him is Ed Schmidke, first baseman with an average of .429 from six hits in 14 times at bat. Schmidke, however, played his last game for Clintonville for a while Monday and is moving to Chicago this week. It is hoped he will return in a month or so as Goerlinger hasn't anyone to fill his position.

The Trucks will not return home until June 16 when they play a night game. It also is hoped that the postponed game with Green Bay can be arranged for a night contest.

Kaws Plan No Changes
Manager Howard Bowers of the Kaws plans no changes in his battle front. Rich Weisgerber probably will be the first hurling choice with Al Bauer as a replacement. Weisgerber bowed last Sunday to Green Bay while Bauer tamed Two Rivers. Both toss from the right side.

Ben Peck is slated to receive for the Kaws with Egert at first, Vondrashek at second, Powell at short and Zelinski at left. The outfield will have Vile in left, Bowers in center and Kappell in right.

SEYMOUR CONFIDENT
Seymour—Although Seymour has lost three straight games in the Northern State league, it isn't to be sold short according to Manager Bill Row. It is about due to make an about face and win a few games.

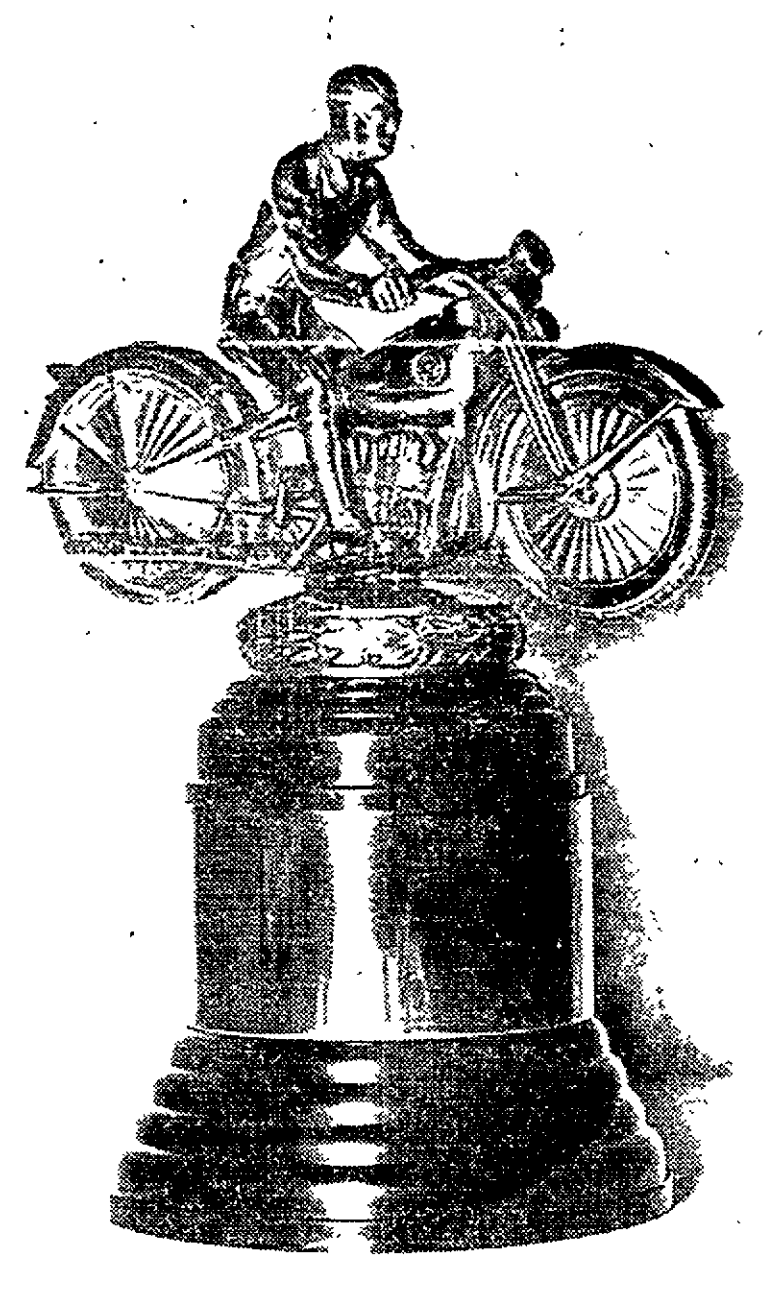

The fact that the team has not been hitting tells the story of why it has lost games. But with Nickodem, Heller, Kelly, Binner, Pen-denzagard and Raasch, all of whom have never hit under 300, something should happen Sunday when the club meets Kimberly here. Seymour looks as good as any team in the league and has been getting good pitching. It also has been fielding well and with some hitting is sure to win.

Arnold Kelly, who has been bothered with a sore arm, is O. K. again and will be on the mound against Kimberly. Another capacity crowd is expected. Jack Lamers, who is catching for Kimberly, caught for Seymour for two years and always was a favorite. Strick, Kimberly's second baseman, played one year with Seymour and Bowman, who plays the outfield for Kimberly, finished last season with Seymour.

KIMBERLY SEES WIN
Kimberly—The Kimberly Paper-makers will cross bats with Seymour Sunday afternoon at Seymour. After three losses the Papermakers broke into the win column last Monday when they defeated Green Bay by a one-sided score, 16 to 6. It was a great day for Kimberly as every man on the team got one or more runs. Bongers got two homers, Carvenag and Wagner each two runs, Bowman, three, Strick, Lamers, Versteegen and Zinth each one run, while Horn scored four and also had a field day at bat. He got three singles and a double in five tries. His fifth effort was called an error.

Last Sunday Kimberly lost to Clintonville 10 to 4 in a game which was tied until the seventh inning. Seymour was shut out by Manitowoc Monday, 6 to 0.

A week from Sunday the Paper-makers are scheduled to play at Two Rivers and will have their next home game on Wednesday evening, June 15, in the first night game in the village. Two Rivers will be the opponent. All Wednesday night games are scheduled at home for the Papermakers with the ex-

CLIMB FOR THIS TROPHY TOMORROW

Fox river valley and Wisconsin motorcycle riders will compete in a hill climbing contest starting at 1:45 Sunday afternoon at Mosquito hill, New London, for the trophy shown above and for cash prizes. The meet has the sanction of the American Motorcycle association and is the first approved meet on the New London hill in eight years. Appleton Motorcycle club is sponsoring the meet.

'Schoolboy' May Return To Tigers as Outfielder

BY EDDIE BRIETZ
NEW YORK (AP)—Just a year ago yesterday Max Schmeling fought his shadow in the famous "phantom fight" in the Long Island bowl. "Schoolboy" Rowe may return to the Tigers as an outfielder if the Houston sun fails to bake out his sore arm. Tony Galento is writing newspapers offering to cover the Louis-Schmeling fight without benefit of ghosts. Joe McCarthy will part with $40,000 to get Buck Newsome of the Browns on the Yankee payroll before June 15. Jimmy Braddock's piece in the current liberty rates at least three stars. Notre Dame is having its 40th winning season in 47 years of baseball.

Note to Max Schmeling: Gene Tunney popped into Pompton Lakes the other day.

Hanna Will Talk At Track Dinner

Lawrence Squad to be Feted at Program Tuesday Evening

Lawrence college track and field squad, which scored three dual victories, won the Midwest track title for the first time in history and the third straight state college title, will be feted at a 6:30 dinner Tuesday evening at Brookway hall. Lawrence Men's club is arranging for details of the program.

The Rev. John B. Hanna of the Congregational church, and himself a track star in his college days, will be the principal speaker. Russ Flom, Menasha, is to toastmaster.

The dinner also will feature announcement of varsity and freshman track awards, tennis and golf awards and probably talks by Coach A. C. Denney and members of the varsity squad.

Tickets for the dinner may be secured at the Johnston Book Store, Pond Sport Shop or Brookway hall.

Marksmen Add Archery To Their Activities

Archery was added to the list of activities of the Appleton Rifle and Pistol club at a recent meeting at the outdoor range clubhouse on the Wasserbach farm. Archers will be affiliated with the National Archery association.

An addition is to be built to the clubhouse to house the newly acquired electric lighting plant, target frames and miscellaneous equipment.

An iron sight rifle match will be staged June 12, 19 and 26 at the range. Those interested in the club have been invited to join.

Britain Golfers Lead U. S. Rivals In Walker Series

Yates, Ward and Billows Only Americans Ahead At Halfway Mark

St. Andrews, Scotland (AP)—Marvin (Bud) Ward of Olympia, Wash., today routed Frank Pennink of England, 12 and 11, in their Walker cup singles match, to make the standing 2 to 2.

Ward was six up after shooting a six-under-par 67 for his morning round.

S. T. ANDREWS, SCOTLAND (AP)—Great Britain's determined Walker cup golfers, securing their first victory since the competition was inaugurated in 1922, today were leading their United States rivals in five of the eight singles matches at the end of the morning eighteen holes, after gaining a 2-1 lead in yesterday's scotch foursomes.

Only Charley Yates of Atlanta, winner of the British amateur title last Saturday; Mavin (Bud) Ward of Olympia, Wash., and Ray Billows of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., could gain the upper hand at the halfway mark.

Shoots 67
Ward turned in the most brilliant performance of the matches to date as he fired a 67 six under par and one shot better than Bobby Jones' amateur course record, to go six up on Frank Pennink, English amateur champion the last two years.

The margins held by Yates and Billows were much less impressive. The Atlanta, only one up after the first nine despite a fine 33, finished with a 70 to be three up on 18-year-old Jim Bruen, the Irish sensation, in the No. 1 match, and Billows clung tenaciously to his first-nine advantage to go to lunch leading Cecil Ewing, giant Irishman who was finalist against Yates last week, one up.

In the other five matches, Hector Thomson of Scotland was six up on United States Amateur champion Johnny Goodman, who was spattering irons all over the place and missing his putts; Leonard Crawley was 4 up on Johnny Fischer of Cincinnati; Charles Stowe 1 up on Charles (Chuck) Kocsis of Detroit; Gordon Peters 3 up on stocky Reynolds Smith of Dallas, and Alex Kyle 1 up on slim Fred Haas, Jr. of New Orleans.

Despite the fact that the Americans, needing to win five of today's matches to retain the trophy they have won in each of the previous nine series, were teetering on the brink of defeat, the story of the morning round was Ward.

Out in 32, four under par, and four up at that point, the Pacific coast youngster hardly let up at all. He came home in 35, two under par, standard figures, and didn't lose a single hole all the way.

Though match play scores usually are not accepted as course records, since several putts generally are conceded, Ward's 67 should be, for Pennink seemed to take a delight in making the westerner hole every putt, even if it was only six inches.

Wauwatosa Leading in High School Golf Meet

Madison (AP)—The defending champions, Wauwatosa, of the Milwaukee suburban league, paced a field of high school stars in the fifteenth annual W.L.A.A. tournament here yesterday at the half-way mark of the 36 hole tourney. The Red Raiders stroked 248 for 18 holes.

La Crosse Central and Milwaukee Washburn were deadlocked for second with 250. South Milwaukee was third with 252, and Madison East was next with 255. West Allis, counted on to give the titleholders a run, was far down the list with 264.

Brewers Collect 17 Hits to Wallop Louisville, 16 to 3

Grimes Smashes 2 Triples, 2 Singles; Heving Allows 9 Blows

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Oscar Grimes smashed out two triples and two singles as the Milwaukee Brewers collected 17 hits and walloped Louisville, 16 to 3, here last night.

The victory boosted the sixth place Brewers to within a game and a half of third place in American association standings.

Clinching the game in the second, Milwaukee drove Danny Boone to the showers and scored five runs on three singles, a double, a walk and a triple.

Joe Heving held the losers to nine hits while his teammates fattened their batting averages off three Louisville hurdlers. Grimes batted in four runs while Heving and Eddie Hope, with three hits each, drove in three runs apiece.

4TH STRAIGHT WIN

Indianapolis (AP)—Johnny Nigeling, the veteran right hander Indianapolis obtained from the Boston Bees last month, hasn't wasted any time satisfying his new employers.

In fact, Ray Schalk could only beam last night as Nigeling scored his fourth straight American association triumph—a brilliant two-hit, 1 to 0 shutout—for it came against none other than the hard hitting, league leading Kansas City Blues and advanced the Indians within a half game of first place.

For six consecutive innings Nigeling pitched hitless ball. He had to, for Jack Larocca also turned in a two-hit performance. Larocca went out for a pinch hitter in the eighth and Max Brewer, who relieved him, did not allow a hit in the one inning he pitched.

The all-important one run came in the third when Andy Pilney drew a base on balls, one of seven issued by Larocca, and went to second on a bad pitch. Buck Fausett then hit a short fly that appeared so easy an out Pilney could only reach third base when the ball fell safe for a double. He scored a minute later on Glenn Chapman's long fly.

At Columbus the Red Birds handed big Bud Parnelle his first defeat after seven straight victories for Minneapolis. The 6 to 3 setback left third place a three-way scramble between the Millers, Toledo and St. Paul.

St. Paul climbed into a tie by defeating Toledo 3 to 0 behind the four hit pitching of Lloyd Brown. It was Brown's fourth victory. In the other game, Milwaukee pounded out 17 hits to trounce Louisville 16 to 3.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

Red Ruffing, Yankees—Pitched seven-hit, fanning five, to trounce Tigers, 5-1.

Bill Lee, Cubs—Hurled three-hit-ter for third shut-out in row, blanking Bees, 4-0.

Mickey Owen and Don Padgett, Cardinals—Owen's "clutch" single with two out in 11th drove in winning run to beat Phillies, 8-7. After Padgett hit homer with bases loaded.

Wes Ferrell, Senators—Handcuffed White Sox, 5-1, with six hits.

Earl Averill, Indians—Hit triple and single, driving in four runs in 10-5 win over Athletics.

Dolph Camilli, Dodgers—Hit triple and single and drove in winning run in 5-4 victory over Reds.

Klinger and Lee Handley, Pirates—Klinger held Giants to eight hits while Handley collected two singles, driving in two runs in 6-5 win.

Bill Lee Hurls Chicago Bruins To 4-0 Victory

Win Advances Bruins to Within 1 1-2 Games Of the Giants

CHICAGO (AP)—Bill Lee, the Chicago Cubs' tall right hander, pitched his way within one game of the National League record for consecutive shut-outs yesterday by blanking the Boston Bees 4 to 0 on three hits.

It was his third straight shut-out and his fourth in five games. The exception was a 4 to 1 triumph over the Bees May 23.

Ed Reulbach, another Cub hurler, established the record of four back in 1908 and it was equaled by Grover Cleveland Alexander of the Philadelphia Phils in 1911.

Including one inning before Lee was removed for a pinch hitter on May 15, he has allowed only one run in 47 innings, and none in his last 32 straight.

Only five Bees reached base yesterday as Lee reached his sixth victory of the season and none reached third. "Rabbit" Warstler, Debs Garms and Vincent DiMaggio singled and Tony Cuccinello and Elbert Fletcher walked.

The Cubs clubbed Lou Fette, who was removed in the eighth inning for a pinch hitter, for all of their hits. Augie Galan and Bill Jurgas splitting four of them. It was Fette's sixth defeat.

A victory advanced the Cubs within a game and a half of the league leading New York Giants.

Coppens Methods Like Those Used In Shoe Factory

Expert Rebuilders Recommend Minit-Wite Cleaner for Shoes

Shoes rebuilt "the Coppens way" undergo a method of shoe rebuilding which closely follows the methods in new shoe building by the factories. This combined with the use of factory equipment plus experienced hand workmanship and complete supervision of every shoe rebuilding job by Harry Coppens, operator of Coppens Shoe Rebuilders, describes pretty closely the careful, and efficient operation of shoes rebuilt "the Coppens way."

shoe rebuilding produces gives original newness and shape to your shoes without destroying the old shoe comfort. Then there is the style angle which is not sacrificed by having Coppens rebuild your shoes because its remarkable process brings back its original style, appearance, and shape, making it possible for you to realize almost the same amount of wear which a new pair would give.

The Coppens firm, located in the rear of the Heckert Building, located at 119 E. College avenue, offers you, too, a complete line of first quality shoe polishes, laces, and shoe cleaners. Its Minit-Wite cleaner is a real favorite of those who are wearing white shoes this summer. Its easy application, even coverage, and no-rub-off qualities make white shoe cleaning and polishing a real pleasure and a simple task. A generous sized bottle is offered at a reasonable price. Try it once, users say, and you will never be satisfied with any other brand. Coppens recommend it highly and you owe it to yourself to try a bottle soon and see for yourself what good cleaner Minit-Wite really is.

Remember, in checking over your summer footwear rebuilding needs that it is not necessary to come down town to have Coppens

Plenty of Space To Store Food in New Coolerators

Lutz Ice Company Has Model to Fit Every Purse, Requirement

An important feature of Coolerator, the air-conditioned refrigerator, with which over 400,000 housewives in this country are especially pleased, is its generous amount of space allowed for food storage. In refrigeration housewives want space and lots of it. Coolerator, states the Lutz Ice Company, actually gives you again as much space for food as many mechanical refrigerators costing twice as much.

There is a Coolerator model, the Lutz firm continues, to fit every need, whether large or small. It is a good idea, the Lutz firm suggests, when you are thinking of buying a new refrigerator to remember all of the things you would like to have kept in your old refrigerator if you had had room enough. Then be sure, in purchasing a new one, to buy the size which will adequately take care of your family's needs. This extra space may be had in a Coolerator at only slight extra cost and you will pay yourself on the back many times if you buy one that is large enough.

There is an air-conditioned Coolerator model, this firm reminds you, for the smallest apartment and on up the line even including big sizes for commercial use. Therefore, whether yours is a family of two or ten, Coolerator can solve your refrigeration problems most economically and wisely.

In a purchase as important as this to your family's health and pocketbook you want, of course, to make sure you have made no mistake in your selection. Because Coolerator does give you better air-conditioned refrigeration and costs you only half as much in the first place, Lutz is willing to let you try one in your own home 10 days free without the slightest obligation on your part. All this firm asks is that you try Coolerator, compare it with any refrigerator you know of, and see how it keeps foods fresher, longer and how attractive it looks in your own kitchen.

Consult the Lutz Ice Company soon in regard to replacing that old refrigerator of yours for a new Coolerator and ask about their efficient ice service. Pure manufactured ice will be delivered to your home by calling telephone number, 2.

Ladies Aid Society in Meeting at Black Creek

Black Creek — The Ladies Aid Society of the Methodist church held a meeting at the church Thursday afternoon. The devotional service was followed by a business meeting at which plans were made for a 6:30 dinner to be held June 23 at the Community hall and will be served by Plunkett caterers of Milwaukee.

A program followed the business meeting and consisted of readings by Mrs. C. J. Burdick, Mrs. J. B. Hahn, and Miss Alice Schabow. There also were several contests. Mrs. J. J. Laird was chairman of the program. A piano solo was played by Lola Mae Marcks.

One feature of the program was the celebration of the birthdays of twin sisters, Mrs. Fred Sassman and Mrs. Louis Grandy. They are members of the society.

A supper was served in the sub-auditorium of the church by Circle of which Mrs. O. H. Kringsel is captain.

The Christian Mother's society of St. Mary Catholic church held a meeting Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Anna Braun. Prizes at the were won by Mrs. Casper Griesbach and Mrs. John Felton and at schafkopf by Mrs. Alfred Wolf and Mrs. John Stephani.

Hostesses were Mrs. Casper Griesbach, Mrs. John Felton, Mrs. Andrew Fries and Mrs. Ray Fries. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sassman left Friday to spend several days at the home of their son at Madison.

OCTAGON HOUSE BY PHOEBE ATWOOD TAYLOR

Continued from page 10. You, he said he'd come back. And there was a girl that waited a couple of hours, I guess. She said her name was Boone. "Dark and quiet, isn't she?" Cummings said. "I know her. She was over at Lornes' and at Octagon House, too. She's an illustrator, and she keeps a goat. I treated it once after an overdose of hair-mattress. Boone tried to get Hanson to stop long enough to look at the living room windows in Octagon House, to prove to him that Nettie was lying, but Hanson wouldn't pay any attention to her. They nearly came to blows—both of 'em were in a violent rage. And what do you think, Assey? This slays me. Roddy Strutt's offered a reward for the arrest and conviction of the murderer. What do you think of that?" "He has? Well," Assey said, "I think that Roddy is overdoing it. He's a mite. How much, do you know?" "So Much Mildew?" "The sum varies, depending on who's telling the story. I've heard $1,000, I've heard $5,000. Personally, I don't understand it. I don't understand Roddy's sudden wealth either. I heard that his father had cut his allowance to the bone—and here he is, cranking up new planes in a carefree fashion, and offering rewards."

HERE IS SECTION OF KRIECK'S NEW VAULT

Above is shown a section of the refrigerated fur storage vault at the new Kriek Fur headquarters, 220 E. College avenue. The vault is completely insulated, and is kept at scientific correct cold temperatures by a General Electric refrigeration plant that circulates 8,000 cubic feet of cold, dust-free air steadily. The visitor to this vault—and every fur coat owner is urged to see this modern type of construction—will be impressed by the completely clean interior that is reflected in the hospital white painted surfaces. Kriek's vault, plus Kriek methods, insure that every fur in it is completely protected and insured against heat, dust, theft, moths, fire and dampness. Since these can lurk in every home, there is obviously no economy in attempting to store furs at home where there is little defense against one or more of these dangers. As a matter of fact it is far cheaper to use Kriek's storage facilities than to gamble with an expensive fur coat. Special rates on cleaning furs are now in effect at Kriek's. A call to 1078 will bring a bonded messenger to promptly call at your home for your furs. Should you have questions to ask, the Kriek staff will be more than happy to have you come to the beautiful new store for a visit that involves absolutely no obligation on your part.
